ROOT ACCEPTS STATE PORTFOLIO

President Roosevelt Makes the Formal Announcement of Appointment.

TAKES OATH IN TWO WEEKS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 7.—President Roosevelt gave out the acceptance of Mr. Root as secretary of state just before he drove to the station this morning. The official statement read as follows:

"Elihu Root has accepted the tender by the president of the secretaryship of state. He will take the oath of office in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes up his business affairs. He will not go to Washington permanently till some time in September."

Mr. Roosevelt was evidently in the best of spirits as he took the train this morning accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel. At Long Island City Mr. Roosevelt started off with big strides for the ferry slip.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughter took the ferry for Thirty-fourth street, Manhattan, where they had some difficulty in finding a cab. There were rows of empty electric hansoms, but the drivers, who did not recognize the president's wife, all answered "engaged," as Mrs. Roosevelt went along the line.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughter returned with the president on the special train that left Long Island City at 5:11 this evening. The special was the second section of the regular Oyster Bay express. On the latter was Baron Kaneko Kantaro, special financial agent of Japan. The president, who found him waiting on the platform, greeted him cordially and said: "I didn't know you were in this part of the country."

Baron Kaneko will spend the night at Sagamore Hill as the president's guest. The purpose of his visit is not known, but as Baron Kaneko enjoys extremely confidential relations with his government apart from questions of finance, it is thought he may bring more definite news of Japan's attitude toward an armistice.

President Roosevelt is much gratified at Mr. Root's acceptance and is deeply sensible of the personal sacrifices made by Mr. Root in again taking up the burdens and duties of a member of the cabinet.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Elihu Root's commission as secretary of state has been prepared at the state department and forwarded to Oyster Bay for the president's signature.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—(Special.)—Dr. H. Murray Stokes, a well known physician, committed suicide by firing two bullets through his heart late this afternoon.

Immediately before pulling the trigger Dr. Stokes wrote a short note to his brother-in-law, Alfred W. Gillis, who resides with him. The note, which was addressed to Gillis at his place of employment, read: "I want you to come home to see me. When you get here I will be dead. Take good care of little Murray." "Little" Murray is Dr. Stokes' 2-year-old son.

HIS FAMILY CAST ASIDE HER TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 7.—(Special.)—At the funeral of the late Louis Bergman a scene was created when flowers strewn in the open grave of the dead boy were thrown aside by members of the family. Mrs. Harbison, the cause of the shooting, threw sweet peas over the grave before the funeral cortege arrived. The burial was delayed long enough for the flowers to be removed.

SAYS OLD TRADITIONS MUST BE PRESERVED

"Perhaps God Is Punishing Us for Having Sinned," Declares the Czar of Russia.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—An official report is published this morning of the reception by the emperor on July 4 of a delegation from various provinces, the members of which assured him of the loyalty of the Russian people, and asked for a continuation of the war and the organization on an historic basis of an elected assembly to participate in legislation.

The emperor in the course of his reply thanked the members of the delegation for the sentiments expressed and said he was glad to see their recognition of the fact that the state could not be strong or solid unless it religiously preserved the old traditions, adding:

"Perhaps God is punishing us for having sinned in this direction."

In conclusion the emperor appealed for their aid in re-establishing the peace and tranquility of the empire and in avoiding errors and defects in the execution of the great work he had projected for the welfare of his subjects.

CHADWICK GEMS FIGURE IN SUIT

Attorney for Pittsburgher Who Had Lien on Them Sues for Recovery of Jewels.

CUSTOM COLLECTOR'S STORY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—To compel the return of the Chadwick gems, that belong to J. W. Friend of Pittsburgh, Adrian H. Larkin of New York has brought suit against Collector of Customs Charles E. Leach of this city. The petition has been filed in the United States court here, asking that Leach be compelled to return the jewelry and declaring that Leach shipped most of it from New York to his home address in Cleveland.

The case is an outgrowth of the seizure of jewelry Leach made in anticipation of the suit to be brought by the United States for the recovery of the duty upon rings and other trinkets imported by Mrs. Chadwick and valued at $8,750.10. Larkin says he had the jewelry in his possession in New York in pursuance to an agreement between J. W. Friend of Pittsburgh and the secretary of the treasury.

Friend had a claim upon the jewelry in return for money loaned Mrs. Chadwick and had made an arrangement with Larkin, the latter says, whereby Larkin was to keep the jewelry in his custody open at all times to the inspection of the department. After being taken by Leach the jewels were not found within the collection district of Cuyahoga county, and therefore, according to the complaint, they were wrongfully and fraudulently removed. Collector Leach said:

"I went to New York at the request of Friend to examine the jewelry and take possession, assess and collect the duty on such portion of it as had been unlawfully imported. I found 48 pieces of jewelry, 15 of which were unquestionably subject to seizure and forfeiture. These I shipped to Cleveland as directed by the department and requested by Friend and subsequently on the advice of the district attorney I began proceedings in forfeiture."

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MAYSVILLE, KY., July 7.—Caleb Powers is to be tried in the United States courts for complicity in the murder of William Goebel at Frankfort. The opinion sustains Powers' motion for a writ of habeas corpus to transfer custody of him from the state of Kentucky to the United States.

The largest crowd ever assembled in the court house here was present to hear the reading of the opinion. It required about three hours to finish it.

GOVERNOR SUSPENDS MAYOR OF HAVANA

HAVANA, July 7.—Gen. Nunez, governor of Havana province, has suspended Juan O'Farrill, mayor of Havana. HOT PURSUIT OF MUTINEERS

The Black Sea Fleet Is Now Chasing Rebel Battleship.

EXCITEMENT INTENSE

People in Water Front Towns Fear Bombardment by the Kniaz Potemkine.

MORE SAILORS IN MUTINY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 8.—The Black Sea fleet is reported in action with the rebel battleship Kniaz Potemkine south of Novorossiysk harbor.

NOVOROSSIYSK, RUSSIA, July 7.—The Black sea fleet arrived here tonight and will sail southward. The authorities have placarded the town recommending the people not to go upon the streets should the Kniaz Potemkine appear.

ODESSA, July 8.—Vice Admiral Chouknin has telegraphed the governor general of Odessa that the Black sea fleet has been ordered to capture or destroy the Kniaz Potemkine.

YALTA, CRIMEA, July 7.—Intense excitement prevails here owing to fear that the Kniaz Potemkine will bombard the city.

SEBASTOPOL, July 7.—A naval magistrate is investigating a mutiny on the transport Prout. One hundred and fifty sailors of the Prout have been imprisoned in the fortress here and the others are still on board.

THEODOSIA, July 7.—A Russian cruiser has arrived to protect the town. The inhabitants, who fled while the Kniaz Potemkine was in port, are returning.

Order is fully maintained in the town by troops. Before leaving Theodosia the Kniaz Potemkine sighted a British collier, which she followed seaward, and from which she took a quantity of coal.

Protect Bosphorus at Any Cost.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 7.—The chief of staff of the navy has gone to Heraclea with orders to prevent at all costs the Kniaz Potemkine approaching the entrance to the Bosphorus. He is instructed to supply the battleship with coal, and even with money, if needed.

The council of ministers has resolved to begin preparations for the dispatch of all available warships to the entrance of the Bosphorus and for the mounting of heavy guns at the forts in Kavak. These guns were purchased for this purpose some years ago, but were not mounted, owing to objections made by the Russian government.

MANILA, July 7.—The sailors of the interned Russian squadron are reported to be in a sullen mood and to be expressing sympathy for the Black sea mutineers. A rumor that they contemplated murdering their officers caused the American authorities to place the monitor Monadnock in close proximity to the Russian warships.

Mutineers Elude Fleet.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—According to the latest reports, the Kniaz Potemkine has escaped her pursuers and is still at large in the Black sea, with the torpedo-boat destroyer Smetlivy and the Black sea fleet hot on her trail. There is little doubt that she is heading for Poti or Baoum, but no dispatches from either place had been received up to 2 o'clock this morning.

Advices received by the Associated Press indicate that the tension is increasing in the Caucasus.

Official reports received at the ministry of the interior from the governor of Simferopol, who is in command at Theodosia, furnish some interesting particulars of recent events there. According to these

CANAL JURISDICTION TO BE TRANSFERRED

Affairs at Isthmus of Panama May Be Changed from War to State Department.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, July 7.—It is not unlikely that the administration of affairs connected with the construction of the Panama canal may be transferred from the war to the state department. Since Elihu Root indicated his acceptance of the president's tender of the secretaryship of state, the president has had the matter of the transfer under consideration. It is known that Secretary Taft would be quite willing to be relieved of the responsibility attendant upon the direction of the canal affairs.

The appointment of Judge Magoon to be minister of the United States to Panama in connection with his office as governor of the American zone on the isthmus naturally suggests the desirability of placing both offices under the direction of the secretary of state and following the movement to its logical conclusion, the secretary of state would be the natural director of the affairs of the canal. Mr. Root is deeply interested in the canal work and already has devoted considerable thought to it.

While no definite decision regarding the transfer yet has been reached by the president it is regarded as probable that the direction of all matters pertaining to the canal will be placed in the hands of Secretary Root.

GOV. HERRICK'S ELECTION IS SECURE, SAYS KENNEDY

Youngstown Congressman Predicts Victory for the Ohio State Republican Ticket.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—"I do not see what there is in the Ohio political situation," said Representative James Kennedy of Youngstown, who is in the city looking after some departmental business, "that warrants any uneasiness on the part of the Republicans. I have no doubt of the re-election of Gov. Herrick by a large majority, and, of course, that will carry the entire state ticket.

"The rank and file of the Republican party, it appears to me, will resent any effort of extreme temperance people to dictate the policy of the party.

"In Gov. Herrick's administration they secured very liberal temperance laws, and only Prohibitionists of the most extreme type could expect more. I believe that stronger temperance laws than are now on the statute books could not be enforced."

POINTS LESSON TO THE RICH

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ASBURY PARK, N. Y., July 7.—President Roosevelt was the hero of 10,000 school ma'ams and the idol of 20,000 citizens assembled here today to do him honor. Roosevelt day crowned the last session of the convention of the National Educational association. On no former occasion has the Ocean Grove auditorium been so jammed with humanity.

Thousands upon thousands of women and girls, dressed in all white, were lined up on either side of the route of approach from the depot, and those waved flags and scarfs and threw flowers into the president's carriage. These were the thousands who could not crowd into the already filled auditorium.

After the usual introductory exercises the president spoke upon the "Duties of the Rich." At the conclusion of his prepared address the president pushed aside his notes and with manifest earnestness and feeling paid an eloquent tribute to the life and services of the late secretary of state, John Hay, and followed this with an estimate of the personal sacrifice Elihu Root has made in becoming Secretary Hay's successor in office. He said:

A Eulogy on John Hay.

"I want to speak to you of certain things of which have happened, and some of which have been suggested to me by what has happened in the past week emphasize what I have said to you as to the importance to this country of having within its limits men who put the realization of high ideals above any form of money making.

"Within a week this country has lost a great statesman, who was also a great man of letters, a man who occupied a peculiar position in our country, a man of whose existence we could each of us be proud, for the United States as a whole was better because John Hay lived.

"John Hay entered the public service as a young man just come of age, as the secretary of President Lincoln. He served in the war and was a member of the Lovejoy. He was trusted by and was intimate with Lincoln as hardly any other man was. He then went on rendering service after service and always also—this was one of his great advantages and great merits—at any moment to go to private life, unless he could continue in public life on his own terms.

"He went on rendering service after service to the country until, as the climax of his career, he served as secretary of state under two successive administrations, and by what he did and by what he was contributed in no small degree to achieving for this republic the respect of the nations of mankind. Such service as that could not have been rendered save by a man who had before him ideals as far apart as the poles from those ideals which have in them any taint or that is base or sordid.

Tribute to Elihu Root.

"Now, I wished to secure as John Hay's successor the man, whom I regarded as of all the men in the country the one best fitted to be such successor. In asking him to accept the position of secretary of state I was asking him to submit to a very great pecuniary sacrifice, and I never even thought of that aspect of the question, for I knew he would not, either. I knew that whatever other considerations he had to weigh for and against taking the position, the consideration of how it would affect his personal fortune would not be taken into account by Elihu Root, and he has accepted.

"I am not speaking of Hay and Root as solitary exceptions. There is not in my cabinet a man to whom it is not a financial disadvantage to stay there. There is not in my cabinet one man who does not have to give up something substantial, often very much that is substantial, sometimes what is a very real handicap for him to give up, in order that he may continue in the service of the nation and have the only reward for which he looks or for which he cares, the consciousness of having done service that was worth rendering.

"I hope more and more throughout this nation to see the spirit grow which makes such service possible. I hope more and more to see the sentiment of the country as a whole become such that each man shall feel, whether he is in public or in private life, that the chance to do good work is the greatest chance that can come to any man or any woman in our generation or in any other generation, and to feel that if such work can be well done it is in itself the amplest reward and the amplest prize."

Responses to the president's address were made by John R. Kirk, president of the State Normal school at Kirksville, Mo., and Miss Katherine Devereux Blake, principal of public school No. 6, New York City. Miss Blake pronounced an eloquent eulogy on the president, closing with these words:

"He is a greater teacher than any among us. We are teachers of children, he is a teacher of men, a teacher of nations. He is not only the president of the United States, but also the best loved man in all the world."

As the president shook hands with Miss Blake at the conclusion of her address the audience arose and cheered.

The prepared address of the president was as follows:

Teachers as Assimilators.

It is not too much to say the most characteristic work of the republic is that done by the educators, for whatever our shortcomings as a nation may be, we have at least firmly grasped the fact we can not do our part in the difficult and all-important work of self-government, we can not rule and govern ourselves, unless we approach the task with developed minds and trained characters.

RULER OF SWEDEN AND HIS SONS

CROWN PRINCE GUSTAV, PRINCE GUSTAV ADOLF, KING OSCAR,

Who Are Mobilizing Troops Because of the Threatening Attitude of Norway.

You, teachers, make the whole world your debtor. If you did not do your work well this republic would not endure beyond the span of the generation. Moreover, as an incident to your avowed work, you render some wellnigh unbelievable services to the country.

For instance, you render to the republic the prime, the vital service of amalgamating into one homogenous body the children alike of those who are born here and of those who come here from so many different lands abroad. It is in no small degree due to you and your efforts that we are one people instead of a group of jarring peoples.

Work for Work's Sake.

Moreover, where altogether too much prominence is given to the mere possession of wealth, the country is under heavy obligations to such a body as this, which substitutes for the ideal of accumulating money the infinitely loftier, non-materialistic ideal of devotion to work worth doing simply for that work's sake.

A certain amount of money is of course a necessary thing, as much for the nation as for the individual; and there are few movements in which I more thoroughly believe than in the movement to secure better remuneration for our teachers. But, after all, the service you render is incalculable, because of the effect it has on your lives, and on the ideals you believe ideals to be worth sacrifice, and that you are splendidly eager to do non-remunerative work if this work is of good to your fellowmen.

Ignoble Ideals of Rich.

The chief harm done by men of swollen fortune to the community is the fact that their success sets up a false standard, and so serves as a bad example for the rest of us. If we did not ourselves attach an exaggerated importance to the rich man who is distinguished only by his riches, this rich man would have a most insignificant influence over us. It is generally our own fault if he does damage to us, for he damages us chiefly by arousing our envy or by rendering us sour and discontented. In his actual business relations he is much more apt to benefit than harm the rest of us; and though it is eminently right to take whatever steps are necessary in order to prevent the exceptional members of his class from doing harm, it is wicked folly to let ourselves be drawn into any attack upon the man of wealth merely as such.

Money-Making Is Secondary.

It is absolutely necessary to earn a certain amount of money; it is a man's first duty to those dependent upon him to earn enough for their support, but after a certain point has been reached, money-making can never stand on the same plane with other and nobler forms of effort. The roll of America's worthies numbers statesmen and soldiers, men of letters, artists, sculptors, men of science, inventors, explorers, road-makers, bridge builders, philanthropists, moral leaders in great reforms; but of rich men it numbers only those who have used their riches aright, who have treated wealth not as an ideal end, but as a means, who have shown good conduct in acquiring it and not merely lavish generosity in disposing of it.

SCORE OF FIRE FIGHTERS ARE SERIOUSLY BURNED

Fighting Fire in a Factory They Are Scorched by Back Draft Explosion.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—A score of firemen were seriously burned or overcome by smoke tonight during a fire which destroyed the upper floors of a seven-story factory building at Hudson street and Ninth avenue.

The most seriously injured, all of whom were taken to a hospital, were Lieut. Noth and Fireman Fred Wevier, John Findley, Robert Johnson, Lawrence Ensley, Frank Lennon and Neil Donohue.

The first firemen to reach the scene, headed by Lieut. Noth, ascended the stairs to the fifth floor, on which the fire had gained considerable headway, where they were met by a "back draft" explosion which hurled them down the stairway with hands and faces scorched and their clothing on fire. They were hurried to a hospital. The department finally subdued the flames, but only after they had caused a loss of $100,000.

POTTSVILLE, July 7.—Angered because Joseph Diggillo of Mt. Opposed to Giving Up Streets.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 7.—The chamber of commerce is divided over the proposition to recommend the abandonment of two streets to allow the Erie railroad to occupy them with a new station. Citizens opposed to the scheme tonight appeared before the committees of council. The closing of the streets would mean a stretch of territory in the central part of the town of more than half a mile without a crossing to the resident portion for vehicles.

STATE OIL PLANT CANNOT BE BUILT

Kansas Supreme Court Declares Unconstitutional Law Providing for Independent Refinery.

OUSTS GAS COMPANY ALSO

TOPEKA, KAS., July 7.—The law passed by the legislature last winter appropriating $410,000 to build an independent oil refinery at Peru was today declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court. The oil refinery law was considered one of the most direct blows struck at the Standard Oil Company by the last legislature, which adopted several measures to restrict that concern in the handling of the Kansas product.

The oil refinery law provided for the erection at Peru, also, of a branch of the state penitentiary to house sufficient prisoners, who, it was intended, were to work the oil plant. State Treasurer T. T. Kelley and Warden E. B. Jewett, whose duty it was to issue the bonds, declined to sign them in order to secure a decision on the constitutionality of the act. Attorney General C. O. Coleman filed mandamus proceedings in the state supreme court on behalf of the state to compel these officers to sign the bonds. The opinion today declaring the act to be illegal and unconstitutional was concurred in by all members of the supreme court.

The court holds the construction of the refinery and the branch penitentiary in connection with it is in violation of the state constitution which declares: "The state shall never be a party in carrying on any works of internal improvement." The construction and operation of such a refinery, it is said, would be a work of internal improvement.

"The indictment of the Standard Oil Company" says the court, "is no doubt true and the provocation was very great, but we must not make a scarecrow of the law."

Gov. E. W. Hoch was greatly disappointed at the decision and said: "If I had been the supreme court, I would have strained a point to have declared the law constitutional."

The state supreme court today also rendered a decision declaring the Kansas Natural Gas Company, a Delaware corporation, cannot do business in Kansas. The decision, which is sweeping in its terms, makes an outlaw of the company, which it declares cannot hold property in Kansas and cannot operate in any manner within the state. The company already has spent several million dollars, it is estimated, in laying pipe lines in Kansas.

When the company applied to the Kansas charter board for permission to do business in this state, the board denied the application. However, the company went ahead laying its pipes and contracting to deliver gas to many cities. To date the company had laid pipe lines from the southern Kansas field to the Missouri line and to a dozen or more Kansas cities, much of which work has practically been completed.

After the charter board had acted, the attorney general, in the name of the state, brought this proceeding in quo warranto against the company, asking that it be requested to show its authority for doing business in Kansas, and that if unable to do so, it be ousted from the state.

GOOD SHOWING MADE BY THE RAILROADS

Only Five Small Companies Have Defaulted in Interest So Far This Year.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—It is stated by the Railway Age that thus far in 1905 only five small railway companies, aggregating 270 miles of lines, have defaulted in their interest obligations and been placed in the hands of receivers. None of them can attribute their insolvency to existing business conditions.

The largest of these roads, the Ohio River & Western, is the successor of the Bellaire, Zanesville & Cincinnati, a narrow gauge road, which has long been in the hands of receivers, and was reorganized in 1903 and widened to standard gauge and was to have been converted into an electric road and made part of the Appleyard electric railway system in Ohio. The project failed and the road must again go through the process of reorganization.

Of the more than 2,000 roads in the United States, independent, subsidiary and private, representing about 214,000 miles of line, only 28, operating about 2,600 miles, are at present in the hands of receivers.

PHILADELPHIAN NAMES COUSIN AS CO-RESPONDENT

Marital Troubles of J. Wesley Allison to Be Aaired in Court—Prominent in Society.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The marital troubles which for some time have existed between J. Wesley Allison, a prominent business man of Philadelphia and his wife, Mrs. Irene B. Allison, came to a climax today when Mr. Allison had his wife arraigned on the charge of infidelity. William C. Allison of 2334 Spruce street, a cousin of the complainant, is named in the bill of particulars. The principals of this affair are all well known here for the Allison family have been prominent socially for many years.

J. Wesley Allison, although his wife was absent, gave a large house party at his cottage on July 4. He had men and women from New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh as guests. About 14 months ago Mr. Allison transferred his villa to his wife, whom he now accuses. A Philadelphian, who declared that Mr. Allison was his debtor for $17,000, by attachment, had the sheriff seize the Cape May villa and its contents four months ago. He also began a suit in the court of chancery of New Jersey to have the transfer to the wife set aside.

Surveys Committee Meets.

The committee on surveys of Allegheny councils last night deferred action on ordinances fixing the grades of Orleans street and Woods Run avenue, and decided to visit both thoroughfares for the purpose of getting further information. Ordinances were printed providing for the opening of Downing and Hoff streets, for vacating a strip of ground for the widening of Harrison avenue, and for changing the grades of Kirkpatrick avenue and St. Clair terrace.

TWELVE LOSE THEIR LIVES TRYING TO BREAK LOG JAM

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHIPPEWA FALLS, WIS., July 7.—A crew of 74 men was sent out by the Chippewa Lumber and Boom Company under Kenneth McLeod today to break a log jam below the little falls.

Fifteen men started in a boat for the center of the stream. The boat was overloaded and as it touched the lower end of the jam three men jumped and landed safely on the logs.

The other 12 men, however, were carried swiftly into the wild rapids, where the boat capsized, throwing all into the water. The men were all good swimmers, but the water was too swift and only one succeeded in saving himself. A boat which immediately set out to rescue the drowning men, arrived too late and was carried through the rapids. It also capsized, but no one was drowned.

Foreman McLeod immediately set 65 men to work hunting for the bodies, but as yet none has been found. Little falls is one of the most dreaded places on the Chippewa river for drivers, yet this is the first serious accident that ever occurred there.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., July 7.—With the water standing at 15 feet 2 inches, a current began moving through the mighty log jam at Camden in North Minneapolis today and expert logging men now believe the jam will not break. Should it do so the rush of the pent up waters and the immense mass of logs, now estimated at nearly 150,000,000 feet, will in all probability tear out every bridge in Minneapolis and destroy hundreds of houses along the Mississippi flats.

The Camden place pumping station, which up to about a month ago was the main source of water supply for the city of Minneapolis, was closed this evening, the rising waters finally putting out the fires. The plant was worked all day with the greatest difficulty, the stokers working in water up to their knees.

PRIESTLEY CHARGED WITH MANY FIRES

Former Wealthy Philadelphian Now in New Jersey Jail Accused of Incendiarism.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—That John W. Priestley, once a wealthy manufacurer of Philadelphia, now a prisoner in the Camden county jail awaiting trial for incendiarism, has been identified with seven manufacturing plants and one other establishment in this city since 1881, all of which were devoured by mysterious fires involving a loss of more than $50,000 and the payment of almost $60,000 insurance, was the startling statement made last night by Chief of Police Foster in Camden.

The investigation of the Jersey authorities is shrouded in mystery. They would give nothing more than an intimation that serious charges might possibly be made against Priestley within the next 24 hours.

For days and nights, Camden detectives, co-operating with men from Capt. Donoghy's staff in this city have silently followed the business career of Priestley in Philadelphia. From friends, mere acquaintances, and papers found on Priestley, the detectives traced the movements of the mysterious prisoner back as far as 1878. During the investigation Priestley has done nothing to aid or deter the police of the two cities in their search for evidence of guilt on his part. To all questions he has remained silent.

CLEVELAND REMAINS IN TRUSTEE BOARD

Grand Jury to Consider Equitable Affairs Increased—Demands Made by Germany.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—In relation to a report that Grover Cleveland was considering retiring from the trusteeship of the Equitable Life Assurance society, Mr. Cleveland authorizes the following statement: "Nothing has occurred thus far to dissatisfy me in the least and the idea of retiring from the trusteeship had never entered my mind."

As the present grand jury, which may have to consider Equitable affairs, is composed of but 18 men, Judge Foster sent out extra summonses to all the other members of the panel. Responses were received from two who were made members of the jury. The papers in the case, which Acting District Attorney Nott expected would be in his hands today, did not arrive. It is thought that they will be in his possession tomorrow.

BERLIN, July 7.—The imperial supervisory office for insurance companies has demanded of the Equitable Assurance society and Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York that they declare by August 1 in what manner they propose separating their premium reserves on German policies from the general reserves, and how they intend to effect them. The amounts affected are $7,500,000 in the case of the Equitable and $5,250,000 in the case of the Mutual.

HOT PURSUIT OF MUTINEERS NOW IN PROGRESS

reports, the Kniaz Potemkine did not succeed in procuring coal at Theodosia, and she left that port short of coal and water, but she had on board salt meat and flour sufficient for three weeks. The governor says he supplied the mutineers with provisions because the populace pleaded that only in that way could he save the city from destruction.

Killed Thirty Mutineers.

The governor says that when the torpedo-boat in the hands of the mutineers and a cutter tried to come inshore yesterday morning for a parley the troops fired on them, 30 sailors being killed or wounded. Upon the return of the boats to the battleship, the latter, instead of expecting vengeance by shelling the city, weighed anchor and steamed away.

The governor expressed the opinion that the career of the Kniaz Potemkine will soon be ended. He says that a sailor who jumped overboard and swam ashore during the night reports that a condition bordering on anarchy exists on board the battleship. There is much drunkenness, the men reeling about the decks, and there are many wounded men aboard. Typhus has broken out on the Kniaz Potemkine. Over half of the crew, together with eight petty officers, are in favor of surrendering and throwing themselves on the mercy of the authorities, but they are powerless against the mutineers, who have all the arms. The ringleaders consist of 65 sailors and two civilians, who came aboard at Odessa. The chief boatswain occupies the admiral's cabin and is virtually in command of the ship, with "Ensign and Quartermaster" Alexieff, the only man on board who is capable of navigating the vessel. Alexieff, according to the sailor's story, is under duress.

Stories Do Not Agree.

It should be noted that the governor's story conflicts entirely with the report of the Associated Press correspondent who visited the Kniaz Potemkine and said everything on board was shipshape.

The advices received by the admiralty are meager and most conflicting. It is considered possible that "Ensign and Quartermaster" Alexieff who commands the Kniaz Potemkine was advised of the fleet's coming and left Theodosia. At any rate it is clear that she coaled from a British ship, which was subsequently released and then sailed away. The reports as to the direction taken by the Kniaz Potemkine do not agree.

Admiral Wirenius, chief of the general staff of the navy, informed the Associated Press that one report said she had sailed westward in the direction of Livadia, raising the suspicion that it is the intention of her crew to bombard the emperor's summer palace. Another rumor said that when the Kniaz Potemkine was last seen she was headed southeast as if bound for the Caucasus Littoral. This subsequently was supplemented by a report from Sebastopol that the Kniaz Potemkine had put into Tuapse, half way to Poti and had been captured in some mysterious fashion by soldiers.

Destroyer Came Too Late.

The torpedo boat destroyer Smetlivy manned by a crew of officers and blue-jackets who volunteered to sink the mutineer reached Theodosia several hours after the Kniaz Potemkine had departed and after hurriedly coaling the Smetlivy put to sea, presumably in pursuit of the rebel battleship.

The Russian fire insurance companies are disposed to fight the Odessa claims under the clause in their charters exempting them in case of foreign war or insurrection. A dispatch from Odessa says the companies have already refused payment of policies.

The government is seriously trying to calm the country by distributing everywhere copies of Prince Troubetskoy's zemstvo address with the emperor's response. A million copies have been printed and systematically spread by the provincial governors in the cities and country. Besides this the emperor has personally commissioned Count Ignatieff who is the head of the religious toleration commission to tour the country, address the people and pacify them in his name.

Emperor Nicholas is going to Moscow. In this connection the Listok prints a rumor that his majesty has decided to transfer the capital back to Moscow. Such a transfer has been seriously agitated time after time on the ground that the true heart of Russia beats under the shadow of the holy Kremlin and not at the showy capital on the banks of the Neva. The last general agitation for the transfer was after the assassination of Alexander II.

The Official Messenger this morning prints a detailed account of the disturbances at Lodz and editorially declares that they were unjustified by local economic conditions and were fomented by revolutionary, Socialist and Jewish agitators. The account says that the disturbances culminated June 23 in an open conflict between the troops and the rioters. On that day 160 of the rioters were killed and 152 wounded, one officer and three soldiers were wounded and two police agents were killed and many wounded, while $50,000 worth of property was destroyed. According to the account, 20,000 Jews left the town within two days.

Marines Issue Proclamation.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Special.)—New York's section of the Canal Democratic party today received from the secret Russian Canal Democratic press, a proclamation issued in behalf of the mutineers of the Black sea fleet. The proclamation was drafted by the leaders of the Russian revolutionary marines.

It was circulated among the marines a short time before the mutiny and was issued in the shape of a reply to a speech made by Capt. Baranivsky, commander of the drill steamship Pravt, warping the marines against listening to revolutionists. The proclamation says:

"Are you tools of the czar and you and he himself are contemptible in our eyes. We despise you; do you understand?

"We have no need of you. We hate you—you who lie and steal and squander the people's moneys.

"You tell us that it is the Hebrews that are spreading discontent and sedition among us. It is false. We perfectly well know and understand that you and the like are deliberately trying to incite hatred against the Hebrews, the most oppressed people. But they are working men, just as we are.

"You pretend to be, not our master, but our friend. You are a friend! We know better. You, all of you—admirals, commanders, officials—all of you are robbing the people, sucking the people's blood, torturing us. You are our sworn enemies.

"But, beware! the hour is near, when in their turn our hands will not quiver in tightening the noose around your neck."

IMPERSONATED APPLICANT FOR A GOVERNMENT JOB

Two Men Are Arrested at Philadelphia During the Civil Service Examination.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—A bold scheme to enable one man to pass the civil service examinations by having another man impersonate him was detected yesterday and the arrest of both of the alleged participants resulted. The men engaged in the scheme, it is charged, were George W. Sheehan of 1117 Croskey street, who was an applicant for the position of horseman, and Howard Sheldrake of Glendolden, who tried to take the former's place in the examinations.

Sheldrake appeared before Police Surgeon Angney yesterday to take the physical examination for which application blank it is alleged bore Sheehan's signature and he answered to that name. Dr. Angney was struck by the name and searching his memory recalled that a short time ago a man by the name of Sheehan had applied for the same position and had failed in the examinations.

Dr. Angney then told Sheldrake point blank that his masquerade was discovered. The bogus applicant admitted his identity and said that Sheehan was waiting outside for him, while he passed the examination. Dr. Angney summoned Acting Captain of Detectives Bond, who arrested Sheldrake and then swore out a warrant for Sheehan, when he learned that Sheehan was occupying a seat in the gallery of select council chamber. He was placed under arrest.

He was being taken from Taylorsville to Shelbyville for safe keeping, but when the train arrived at Normandy a mob entered the coach and riddled Beard with bullets as he sat in his seat.

ONE OF THE GREATEST STATESMEN OF THE AGE

Secretary of War Taft Pays a High Compliment to the Ability of Elihu Root.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—In his speech last night at the banquet tendered to him by the commercial organizations of this city, Secretary Taft had the following to say about Elihu Root:

"In his great loss the president turns to another man, Elihu Root of New York, a man under whom it has been my great pleasure to serve as subordinate. Know that in him we have one of the greatest constructive statesmen of the age. Happy country, happy the president, who, having lost a Hay, can turn to a Root."

Tonight a brilliant reception in honor of Secretary Taft was given at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Martin. The secretary and Miss Roosevelt stood in the receiving line and met the society people of the city.

JEROME GIVES TRUSTS A SEND-OFF IN THE WEST

OTTAWA, KAN., July 7.—District Attorney Jerome of New York in the course of an address here today, said: "The evil of trusts is greatly exaggerated in the west. Trusts have cheapened the articles they touch and are part of business evolution. Natural laws in business will regulate them and prevent extortion. You in the west don't look like people who have been eaten up by the money devils. Wall street finances your railroads and drills your oil wells."

Miners Lose Their Case.

OUR CONSCIENCES NEED TONING UP

Christian Endeavor Convention Is So Informed by the Rev. Dr. Gladden.

EVEN CHURCHES ARE LAX

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, July 7.—There was no formal session of the International Christian Endeavor association today, the forenoon and afternoon being devoted to state meetings, home mission conferences, pastors' conferences, denominational rallies and devotional work in a large number of the local churches.

Big night meetings were held at Armory hall and at the Lyric. The topic governing the addresses at the former was "Evangelism," while to the latter "Christian Culture for Christian Services" gave the keynote. At Armory hall the first speaker was the Rev. Dr. A. P. Gifford of Buffalo, N. Y., who took for his subject "Evangelism Abroad."

At the Lyric the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., spoke on "The Education of Conscience," saying in part:

There is a tremendous amount of uneducated or miseducated conscience in this country today. People in good society—people who are members of our churches—people who are known as our leading citizens are doing things which are horribly wrong, and neither do their own consciences protest, nor is there any moral sense in the community adequately disapproves their wrong-doing.

The things which have been going on of late can only be explained upon the theory of a general slump of conscience—in financial circles, in political circles, in society, and most deplorable of all, in the church itself. The one thing that this country wants today is not better laws or better methods of administration, but a clearing up and toning up of the consciences of its citizens.

Another point on which the consciences of most of us need toning up is that of individual responsibility for corporate action. Nearly everything is done nowadays by corporations. Now, corporations have no souls, and of course can have no consciences. Upon this theory the realm of industry and commerce is nearly vacated of moral significance. The truth to be noted is that corporations certainly have the power of doing injustice, of inflicting injury, of causing loss and suffering, and they are doing it on a large corporate action every day; and it is perfectly sure that where injustice is done and injury and suffering are thus caused somebody is to blame.

The tendency is for the individual officers and stockholders to shelter themselves behind the corporation, and to argue practically that what is everybody's responsibility is nobody's. The point to be insisted on is that every member of the corporation is responsible. The officers and directors are first and most directly so, of course, and they should be held firmly to their responsibility.

Corporations are composed of men, and every man has a conscience. Let him not divest himself of it when he enters the corporation, and if he finds his demands and his protests cannot be made effective within the corporation, let him go out of it, and stand not on the order of his going.

COTTON SCANDAL CAUSES DISMISSAL

Associate Statistician of the Agricultural Department Loses His Job.

SPECULATORS BUY FIGURES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 16, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, July 7.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, acting on the report of the secret service officers who investigated the cotton crop report scandal, has summarily dismissed Edwin S. Holmes, associate statistician, from the government service. Holmes is discharged, it is stated, for having held advance reports of the cotton crop to New York speculators, and for having falsified the figures in such a way as to aid persons who had bought or sold cotton and carried a large number of bales on his account.

Holmes has amassed a comfortable fortune. When questioned as to how he got his money, he said he made it through a friend, who met him on a train and importuned him to buy gold mining stock. To get rid of him he invested, and to his astonishment discovered that he had made $40,000 in a short time.

There does not seem to be the slightest probability that the cotton crop leak and other scandals in the department of agriculture will end with the dismissal of Holmes. The matter will in all probability be carried to President Roosevelt and he will order an investigation of the department which shall not be under the control of the secretary of agriculture.

There was a great hurrying and scurrying in the department of agriculture today when it became known that Secretary Wilson had received the report of the secret service on the leakage of the cotton crops and the manipulation of figures. Several important heads of divisions and bureaus were in consultation with the secretary and there was a general consultation as to what should be done with the report.

Secretary Wilson announced late in the afternoon that he would make the report public tomorrow.

"Is it true," the secretary was asked, "that you intend to send a copy of the report to the department of justice in order that action may be taken looking to the prosecution of employes of the government and others for conspiracy in connection with the leakage of the cotton crop figures?"

"I can only say," replied the secretary, "that the report will be made public tomorrow."

The report, it was learned today, bears out everything alleged by Mr. Cheatham, secretary of the Southern Cotton association, that cotton figures were sold to speculators and that these figures were manipulated.

THE DOORSTEP TO SIN.

That's What Tobacco Smoke Is, According to Speaker Before Epworth League Convention.

DENVER, July 7.—The keynote at today's meeting of the Epworth league convention was individual work in uplifting the world.

"The very fumes of burning tobacco are an incentive to immoral and pernicious conduct," said Robert L. Reamy of Baltimore, in his address at Central Presbyterian church today. "Tobacco smoke should be shunned, and those who must use the weed should do all in their power to keep the fumes from other people. A smoke-laden room is more harmful by far than the smokers imagine, and it inspires a spirit in those who inhale the smoke which is the doorstep to sin."

Moffatt, D. D., of Washington and Jefferson college, will also make an address. Mayor W. B. Hays of Pittsburgh and Col. S. M. Jackson of Apollo are members of the Byerly family and will be at the reunion.

STRUGGLES LONG TO BRING DEATH

Despondent Lover in Wilkinsburg Hacks His Throat and Wrists With Razor.

MORPHINE CLAIMS TEACHER

Joseph Armstrong, aged 28, despondent in love and holding foreboding ideas of the future, committed suicide yesterday morning by slashing his throat and his wrists with a razor in his room in the residence of Mrs. Sadie E. Spence, 427 Center street, Wilkinsburg. He was found at 7 o'clock stretched upon the floor cold in death. He left a note scribbled in the title page of a magazine. It closed with this benediction: "I am tired of living. God have mercy on my soul."

Armstrong loved a young woman in Aspinwall. It was reported last night that she had jilted him and that this was the cause for his taking his life. Mrs. Spence and his relatives deny that his love affairs were unhappy. Last Sunday he visited his sweetheart and made plans for their celebration of the Fourth of July. After the holiday he seemed more despondent than usual.

On Thursday night he retired. Late yesterday afternoon the door of his room was found locked. Dr. W. C. Cook was summoned and he gained entrance to the room by climbing out over the cornice of the house and prying open the window. He found Armstrong's body stretched out on the floor with gashes in his neck and across both wrists. The man had evidently struggled long and frantically in his efforts to inflict mortal wounds. The body was taken to Turner's undertaking rooms in Wilkinsburg. Armstrong was a telegraph operator employed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Mrs. Aledius Kirk, aged 21, wife of Dr. C. E. Kirk of 1322 Brownsville road, early yesterday morning died from an overdose of morphine. For some time she had been taking it to quiet her nerves. Twice within the last two months she took an overdose of the drug, and had it not been for the timely arrival of her husband, she would have died. Mrs. Kirk's maiden name was Schmidt. She was formerly a school teacher and was said to be the best Latin scholar that ever graduated from the Pittsburgh High school.

A man whose body has not been identified was killed by a Baltimore & Ohio train at Wheeling Junction yesterday morning. He was about 25 years old.

The explosion of an oil lamp in the home of Charles Brandt, Robinson road, Allegheny, on Thursday evening, inflicting severe burns on the father and three children, resulted in the death yesterday of Emma Brandt, aged 14, and her little sister, Marie, aged 5. Both children died early in the morning.

Last night the attending physicians said that little Arthur, aged 11, could scarcely live until morning. Preparations had been made to amputate one of the lad's arms, so badly is it burned, but it was evident that the boy had not long to live, and the operation was abandoned. Mrs. Brandt, who recently had a serious operation performed, is in a critical condition since the accident which has so depleted her family. The father is suffering [illegible] burns about the hands and face.

John Blohm, aged 30, of 1006 Wylie avenue, an employe of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, was electrocuted by a live wire while at work at Magee and Forbes street, yesterday afternoon. He was working with his brother, Henry, at the time, and in some way came in contact with a light wire of the Philadelphia Company.

JUSTICE IS TO RESIGN FROM BOROUGH COUNCIL

Councilman James L. Gardner, now a justice of the peace in Millvale borough, is expected to resign from the borough council next Tuesday evening. Mr. Gardner was elected at the election in February to serve two years as a member of council, but owing to his being appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice of the Peace A. J. Needling he will resign from council, of which he was president for many years. The name of John Steuler will be proposed to serve the unexpired term in council, and there is no opposition as yet. Mr. Steuler is a business man and a large property holder.

BOARDS OF TWO SCHOOLS ELECT TEACHING CORPS

The directors of the Springfield sub-district school, Twelfth ward, met last night and elected Mary I. Bleck principal, Miss E. D. Edelman assistant principal and the following teachers, all for a one-year term: Flora Cole, Leonora Caldwell, Sadie Williams, Bessie Nicholson, Blanche J. Martin and Anna C. Wilson. A vacancy in the teaching corps which exists was not filled. In the O'Hara district of the same ward the directors met and elected Prof. J. J. McMahon for another term as principal. The election of teachers will be held next Tuesday evening.

CARNEGIE KEEPS PRINCIPAL DESPITE LARGER OFFER

Disregarding the offer of the supervising principalship of the Fourteenth ward school of Pittsburgh and a salary of $2,800, Prof. Thomas Jefferson George, principal of the Carnegie High school, last night notified the Carnegie board of school controllers that he would remain there, although his salary has been only $1,700 a year. His salary was increased at a meeting of the controllers last night in Carnegie High school, but the amount is not made public. Several wealthy residents of Carnegie have said that they would themselves increase the principal's salary in order to induce him to remain.

REFUSES TO ACCEPT BRIBE, EVEN IF IT IS SMALL

"I refuse to accept a bribe," said Health Officer C. A. Walker yesterday when a man wanted to purchase for a small amount of money a valuable dog that had been captured by the dog catcher and placed in the pound. Mr. Walker says since the dog catcher has started to work he has been approached a dozen times by persons well known in business and society circles who wanted to get a good dog for $1, the price asked of each owner whose dog is captured without a muzzle.

Detectives Elmore and Seifert arrested C. G. Schade of No. 162 Forty-third street last night at Third avenue and Wood street as a suspicious person. When searched at Central station there was found on Schade two diamond rings, a diamond stud, a gold watch, two crap dice and $565 in money.

WILL ACT UPON THE NEW RULES

Republican Committeemen Receive Copies of Revision Made by Joint Committee.

STENGEL ISSUES STATEMENT

The joint rules committee, composed of members of the Republican county committee and the city committees of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport, has reported the revision upon which it has agreed. Copies of the report have been mailed to all the members of the county committee, which will meet on July 15 to consider the report.

The new rules provide for the election of candidates for county offices by the direct vote of the Republican electors, abolishing the delegate system. As told in The Gazette an effort was made to have the county committeemen from all over the county also elected by direct vote, but the joint committee on rules could not agree on that proposition and the result is that in the cities of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport the members of the county committee will be elected in accordance with the rules of the Republican city organization.

McKeesport's representatives were perfectly willing to have the county committeemen from that city elected in accordance with the plan agreed upon for the rural districts, but Chairman W. A. Magee of the joint committee on rules, insisted that in fairness the McKeesport Republicans had a right to any privileges or exemptions accorded to Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

Hope Still Prevails.

While the committee on rules has reported a revision satisfactory to the Pittsburgh and Allegheny representatives on the joint committee those Republicans who want to see the direct vote prevail for county candidates and county committeemen have not yet given up hope that they may prevail on the leaders of the city committees of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to adopt the direct vote in matters pertaining to the county committee, on the ground that all county committeemen ought to be elected under conditions uniform throughout the county. It is expected that Mr. Magee, M. G. Leslie, chairman of the Pittsburgh city committee, and John H. Henderson, vice chairman of the Allegheny city committee, will have a meeting at which they will discuss this matter, Chairman Magee being earnestly in favor of the uniform plan. He also is in favor of having the primary election boards in the cities constituted as are the primary election boards in the boroughs and townships, that is, consisting of the regular general election boards, where such boards were elected on the Republican ticket.

Stengel Defends Himself.

County Register G. H. Stengel yesterday gave out a statistical statement showing what an efficient register he has been. According to Stengel he has been much more economical than his Republican predecessors. In giving out his statement Mr. Stengel said he was the only county officer elected on the Citizens-Democratic ticket who was not renominated, and that the statement was to show that it was not any delinquency in the management of his office that prevented the renomination from coming to him.

Democrats who discuss Stengel's case do not assert that official delinquency prevented Stengel from getting the nomination. It is asserted that Mr. Stengel missed a recent opportunity to show that he wanted the nomination, for if he had spoken in favor of John B. Larkin for city controller, that would have indicated that he was still a stanch Democrat. It is asserted, however, that Stengel neither gave money for Larkin's campaign fund nor made a single speech during the campaign.

TO UNITE IN SERVICE.

Congregations of Opposite Denominations Will Worship Together.

Church Events Tomorrow.

In the majority of the churches in the two cities there will be but one service tomorrow, owing to the heat and the fact that many of the clergymen have entered upon their vacations. In many instances several congregations will hold union services. These union services, almost without exception, will be held by congregations of the same denomination. An exception will be in the service in Calvary Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow night with which the congregation of the Fourth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny will join.

Bethany Lutheran congregation, Allegheny will worship in the former First Congregational church, Franklin and Manhattan streets, for the first time tomorrow. The congregation bought this church last week.

Bishop Regis Canevin of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church will dedicate a new church in Wampum tomorrow. The new building is of stone and brick and is modern throughout. The Rev. P. A. Dooley is rector.

The cornerstone of the Sharpsburg Presbyterian church will be laid next Wednesday afternoon with fitting exercises under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. T. D. Thompson. The church is being erected of brown stone at a cost of $50,000.

The pulpit of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church will be occupied tomorrow and for the balance of the month by the Rev. Dr. John M. Moore of Chicago, formerly of Wilkinsburg. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge is in London attending the International Baptist congress.

The Rev. T. D. Edgar, formerly of Cambridge, O., will be installed pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, Wilkinsburg, next Tuesday evening at a special meeting of Monongahela presbytery, to be held in the church.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN.

Annual Meeting of Union Bridge Company Disregards Government's Order.

Despite reports that there would be some decision reached on the question of elevating the old Union bridge, the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Bridge company passed off yesterday in an entirely formal fashion. The following directors were re-elected: W. V. Callery, S. S. Marvin, D. Herbert Hostetter, F. B. Nimick, Addison Lysle, A. H. Childs, Joseph Ford, Henry R. Rea, John F. Walton, D. C. Byers, Thomas F. Stevenson, J. H. Ricketson, Jr., and J. H. Hespenheide.

The legal action to be instituted by United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle will not be begun until after the district court sits at Erie next week. The interests of the bridge company are in the hands of Attorney W. B. Rodgers.

Robbers Work Boldly.

Mrs. Paul Barling was awakened by a noise in her home at 910 Second avenue, Homestead, early yesterday morning and discovered a man standing at the foot of her bed, pointing a revolver and commanding her to be still. Two other men soon entered the room and began searching for valuables. They secured $25 in money, a gold watch and chain and a silk skirt after which all three fled.

Forum Club to Camp.

At a meeting of the Kingsley Forum club, held last evening, a committee of three was appointed to arrange for a camp with authority to locate place and fix the date for the outing. Resolutions of thanks to John A. Downy and William H. Matthews were passed for their assistance to the club.

ALLEGHENY RIVER CLAIMS TWO MORE YOUNG LIVES

George Kirch and Harry Reight Drown While Bathing—Four Bodies Are Recovered.

The local rivers claimed the lives of two bathers yesterday. George Kirch, aged 12, of 2911 Liberty avenue, was drowned in the Allegheny river at the swimming pool at Forty-third street, and Harry Reight, aged 11, of 1505 Monterey street, was drowned in the same river under the Sixth street bridge. Both bodies were recovered.

Kirch drowned about 6 o'clock last evening. He entered the water after the other bathers had left. Later Lifeguards Cooper and Cameron found his clothing on the bank. They secured grappling hooks and soon recovered the body.

Before his brother and some companions Reight jumped into the river to display his swimming powers. The boy started around a barge and became weak. He called for help. His brother Frank, aged 16, jumped into the water to rescue him, but the boy sank before he reached him. George Loughren, aged 16, of 20 East Robinson street, Allegheny, threw off his coat and dived for the boy. He made 15 attempts before he recovered the body.

The body of John Hartman, aged 7, who was drowned in the Ohio river Wednesday night, was recovered at the foot of Locust street, Allegheny, yesterday. He lived at 1514 Preble avenue, Allegheny. The boy was playing on a sand barge and fell into the water.

The body of Peter Feeny, aged 10, of 805 West Lacock street, Allegheny, was recovered under the Union bridge yesterday. He was drowned at that place Wednesday afternoon.

PRETTY GIRL MISSING.

Clarksville Merchant Will Search Houses, in Hope of Finding Her.

Annie Beranet, aged 15, daughter of James Beranet, a merchant of Clarksville, near McKeesport, has disappeared. The girl who is exceptionally pretty, would go out each morning since school closed to take orders. She started out at 9 o'clock Thursday morning as usual with her order book and has not been seen or heard from since by her parents. When she failed to return in time for dinner an investigation was begun, and when no trace of the girl was found after several hours' work, a searching party was organized and the whole night was spent in a systematic hunt. The search was continued throughout yesterday without result. The mother is almost prostrated.

The father adheres to the belief that his daughter is being detained in some house in or near the village. Last evening it was stated that he would obtain a search warrant and with the help of officers have houses in Clarksville searched.

Newsboy is Badly Beaten.

Special Officers Kelly and Morgan yesterday arrested Nicholas Frazier, a fruit dealer at 516 Sixth avenue, for assaulting Martin Munz, a newsboy, who lives at the Newsboys' home. The boy's nose was broken and he was removed to the Homeopathic hospital, where it was found he was injured internally.

FENDERS TO BE SIMPLE, SO SAY THE CHOOSERS

Mayor Hays and Director Moore Are to Select Make for the Traction Monopoly.

Director Moore and Mayor Hays yesterday conferred, and afterward it was announced that they would on Monday agree on a safety fender that the Pittsburgh railways must use. After the make of fender has been decided upon the company will receive ample time in which to equip its cars with the fender selected.

The majority of the fenders tested have demonstrated that they can prevent pedestrians from being ground under the wheels, but the trouble is that they project so far ahead of the cars that in turning curves they extend far out into the street. This would compel cars to go carefully and slowly around curves to prevent the fenders from being broken by striking the wheels of vehicles or from hitting pedestrians. This problem has been solved in Indianapolis and other cities, for there the cars round curves slowly, to give pedestrians opportunity to get out of the way of the fenders, but such care of the life and limb of pedestrians is so unheard of in Pittsburgh that the traction company naturally objects to delays that might lengthen the running time schedules and compel the installation of more cars. The mayor and director will make a choice between two fenders of simple construction.

Fenders that project too far out into the street are liable to be broken by striking obstructions, such as wagon wheels. At present, when a wagon is struck the driver may be hurled out into the street and the vehicle broken, but the car is injured very little, whereas a fender would be smashed, thus making collisions costly to the traction company. Under the courts' interpretation of the common law in Pennsylvania, it is maintained a pedestrian or his heirs can hardly ever recover damages because of injury or death caused by traction cars, for the traveler in crowded city streets is required to "stop, look and listen" as if he were on a railroad crossing out in the wilderness, and thus, it is admitted, there is no financial reason to induce the traction companies in Allegheny county to employ expensive fenders for life-saving purposes.

GOV. PENNYPACKER WILL NAME ARMORY COMMISSION

Gov. Pennypacker, at the conclusion of the Second brigade encampment at Erie, is expected to announce the personnel of the commission which will have charge of the distribution of the $250,000 appropriated by the state for use in building armories for the organizations of the national guard. Under the provisions of the law 12 companies will be entitled to $20,000 each for armories. There is certain to be a great demand for the money as soon as the commission is named.

Increase the Water Supply.

Homestead's water supply from her artesian wells has not been up to the demand recently, and a test was made yesterday of an apparatus to increase the flow. It is said to have been successful as it will enable the borough to secure 2,178,000 gallons a day when only 3,000,000 are necessary.

That assessments which were raised by the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum cannot be modified by the executive committee, is an announcement that will not give much hope to those who complained that the increase was not justified. The committee points to the record of deaths and the insufficiency of the present assessment to meet the claims as justification for the changes made.

Havana's mayor must have been surprised when the governor of the province suspended him because an investigation showed that there had been graft in the municipal administration. The spectacle of city officials growing rich in office when Cuba was ruled by Spain must have encouraged him to think municipal office had its legitimate perquisites. There is encouragement in the fact that the new republic is setting higher standards.

The honesty of the secretary of agriculture made him slow to believe that any of his employes were responsible for allowing figures from the cotton reports to leak out in advance for the benefit of speculators. If such faithlessness has been found it will be promptly remedied and the reports of the department will be received with greater confidence than ever. In fact, the charges themselves were evidence that the government statistics were worth stealing.

Grover Cleveland has been in New York looking into the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society. The fact that the former president was willing to swelter in the city while so many are enjoying their vacations gave rise to the rumor that the situation was serious enough to induce him to resign his trusteeship, but he emphatically denies this. From the frequent investigations into the resources of the Equitable the documents must be well worn by this time.

Such is the state of public tension in Russia that repetitions of the Kishenef massacre are hazardous, for any forcible move by the soldiers would provoke resentment. But reports come from Poland describing such an onslaught on the ghetto district of a Polish village. It is not improbable that the Jews were unjustly suspected of a bomb outrage in order to make an excuse for the attack. When the day of reckoning comes Russia will have many such sins to account for.

For some time it has been observed that the lynching habit seemed to be decreasing in the south, but recently it has broken out again in a virulent form. In Georgia the other day seven prisoners were taken out and shot, while the eighth escaped, and now a negro charged with criminal assault in Kentucky has been put to death while he was on the train in which officers were taking him to safety. The lust for killing has certainly reached a frenzied state when the mob assaults a prisoner in his car seat.

The assumption by the federal court of authority in the disposition of the case against Caleb Powers must be regarded as favorable to the former secretary of state, who has had four trials by state courts in Kentucky and has been under sentence of death. This decision rendered yesterday is practically an admission that he couldn't secure justice in the state courts, and is as much a reflection on the bias of the judges as the men constituting the jury. It is not likely that there will be any conflict between the courts as the question was admitted to be one for the federal bench to decide.

The government printing establishment suffers from the troubles that always seem to attend federal ownership in this country. The place had hardly emerged from one investigation when another was started on account of the purchase of a certain make of typesetting machine. The public printer declares this to be superior to another for certain kinds of work, but this is denied and a commission is investigating the matter. Of course, there are intimations that the new machines were installed for other reasons than their superiority, but this matter is likely to be thoroughly probed.

Both the stimulus of great responsibility and experience in addressing audiences whose enthusiasm is sufficient to induce one's best efforts have combined to improve the oratory of our presidents, both in the facility of expression and method of delivery. President Roosevelt is showing this growth and the character of the man appears in his disposition to exalt the domestic virtues. In his address to the teachers yesterday he not only paid tribute to the importance of the profession, but he took occasion to characterize much of the hostility to wealth as springing from the same spirit that would cringe before the rich man. He saw here an opportunity for instructors to establish right ideals in the minds of the next generation.

No Kansas Refinery.

Kansas enthusiasts, responsible for the radical oil legislation last winter, received a severe setback yesterday when the supreme court of that state decided that the measure providing for a state refinery was contrary to the constitution. This law was the most direct attack made on the Standard Oil interests in Kansas, and when its constitutionality was questioned, the state decided to employ inmates of the penitentiary to do the work, so as to evade the provision forbidding it to enter private business. This evasion made it possible for Kansas to manufacture its own binder twine, which has proved a paying industry after reducing the price of the commodity.

The court declares that the construction of a branch penitentiary as a refinery would conflict with the constitutional prohibition against carrying on works of internal improvement. Perhaps also it thought that the state would become too socialistic if another industry was appropriated on the plea of providing work for convicts. Such a precedent would be dangerous if it might set its prisoners at work on any article when it wanted to break a combination. But since the outbreak of those who denounced the trusts as responsible for the low prices to producers of oil the real cause is being better understood. The big returns promised those who have invested in the inflated stock of oil companies cannot long be realized and ultimately producers will have less complaint to make about prices.

Money Consideration.

Closely following the stinging rebuke inflicted on Engineer Wallace of the canal commission because he left a place paying $25,000 a year to accept one where the salary is to be $65,000, two instances where men have left a lucrative law practice to serve the government seem especially conspicuous. It is not suspected that Elihu Root was influenced by the Wallace case in deciding to surrender a practice amounting to $1,000 a day to enter the cabinet, nor is it likely that Mr. J. B. Dill had Mr. Roosevelt's lecture on filthy lucre in mind when he accepted the appointment of judge in New Jersey, content with its salary of $3,000 a year, when he has been receiving $300,000 annually from his private practice. But coming at this time they emphasize the fact that all men do not measure their opportunity by its money value.

It is certain that in both these cases the honor of the positions counted heavily against any financial consideration. The successful lawyer today is assured a princely income, and yet the appreciation of the distinction of presiding in court is held in such high estimation by the bar that there has been little difficulty in inducing lawyers of first-class ability to accept judicial office. In fact, the successful lawyer often cherishes as his highest ambition such an appointment and consequently it has not been necessary to make the compensation adequate to the ability of the lawyers who are chosen judges. This spirit may be partly due to the ideals of the profession, which have been so jealously promoted since the days of the Bar association guilds. But in the case of Secretary Root no one doubts that the choice was made in response to appeals to the noblest motives. For the successful result both President Roosevelt and Mr. Root deserve credit.

Courage of His Convictions.

Mr. Wells has written the story of the man who invented the first airship that ever flew, and then committed suicide rather than go up in it on the trial trip. But Benjamin Lev of Cleveland, O., is made of sterner stuff. He is the inventor of a street car fender, and he is so sure his fender will work that he wants to stand or lie on the track himself, instead of a dummy, when the test is made. A dozen or more dummies have been mangled in the experiments and much sawdust spilt, but Mr. Lev did not, therefore, let his native hue of resolution get sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought. He wasn't going to belittle the dignity of his contrivance by trying it on a dummy or a dog. As the superintendent wouldn't allow him to experiment on himself he took his fender and went home.

Mr. Lev's fender may not be any better than any other, but at any rate he has the courage of his convictions. What would we say of a cook that goes out for dinner? Or a humorist who won't laugh at his own jokes? Or a fisherman who takes along a supply of canned salmon? Indeed, Mr. Lev's desire to try his fender on himself appears both natural and reasonable. People would be justified in doubting the efficiency of a fender whose inventor isn't willing to let it save his life, and it would seem no more than proper to let the patentee of every such device be hoist by his own petard.

The Business Situation.

There is no question about the volume of general trade being well maintained. The steady increase in bank exchanges and railroad earnings is proof of this. While iron, coal and coke production is not up to the maximum of the year, some relaxation in these branches is not unusual at this season. The textile industry is active and prices are firm. Conditions in the glass trade are more satisfactory to producers than for years. While it is gratifying to know that business is active, it is equally gratifying to learn that it is on a sound basis. Dun's report of commercial insolvencies for the first half of 1905 proves this latter point. While there was scarcely any change in the number of failures as compared with the first half of 1904, the amount of defaulted indebtedness was less than $56,000,000, against $79,000,000 for the corresponding period last year. It is also reassuring to learn that the number and liabilities of banking and other fiduciary failures also make a favorable comparison. From a careful analysis of the statistics gathered from all over the United States, Dun & Co. reach the conclusion that "in so far as the business situation is indicated by the mercantile death rate, it is apparent that current conditions are much more satisfactory than earlier this year or at the same time in 1904."

Weather conditions have not been entirely favorable for harvesting or for the growing crops. Unofficial estimates of the yield of winter wheat place the amount at 365,000,000 bushels, which is about 65,000,000 bushels below the indicated yield based upon the government's figures a month ago, but nearly 30,000,000 bushels more than the actual yield last year. The official report on cotton placed the average condition surprisingly low, and inasmuch as there has been a reduction of the acreage, the prospects are for a crop much below that of last year. As a consequence there has been a revival of active speculation in the staple, and the price has advanced to the highest of the year. In the northwest low temperatures and excessive moisture have retarded the growth of spring wheat and corn. The crop situation, therefore, is uncertain enough to cause some hesitation in general business circles.

The money market passed the semi-annual settlement period without disturbance in rates. The outlook for the money market, however, does not seem to warrant the view expressed by the stock market leaders in Wall street. While it cannot be said that stringency is to be feared, there is a strong probability of firmer rates about the time the crops begin to move. Banking loans throughout the country are at the maximum. The surplus reserves of the associated banks of New York are below the average for the season. This day next week there will be due and payable about $15,000,000, which the government is withdrawing from depositories. The impending Japanese war loan will place about $50,000,000 additional cash in New York banks subject to the call of Japan. What proportion of the total amount will be paid out in this country for supplies cannot be stated, but if, say, three months hence Japan should draw upon its New York credits, it would mean gold exports at a time when the demand for money is at its maximum. There are enough uncertainties in the situation to admonish caution in following the bull campaign which seems to have been mapped out in Wall street.

The United States navy is going to do away with the conning tower on war ships. Is it the purpose of the department to make naval warfare dangerous for even the commanding officers?

Now that the newspapers have figured on Mr. Roof's election to the presidency in 1908, perhaps they will be so good as to relieve him of further anxiety by naming his cabinet for him.

With the Christian Endeavor convention and a cloud-burst both to enter in one week Baltimore is having a regular Odessa of a time of it.

If all of Miss Alice Roosevelt's suitors decide to go to the Philippines with that lady the transport supply will be seriously taxed.

Perhaps later on some of the brides and grooms may regard the exciting post-wedding experiences as very tame affairs.

In that proposed Gulley war against the Standard Oil Company the defendants should keep a sharp lookout for torpedo boats.

Steubenville has begun war against eloping couples to that town. Does Steubenville want back off the map entirely?

The banks of the Wabash seem to have gotten into trouble on the banks of the Monongahela.

Oh, for a vale in the whispering woods!
Where the shadows lie cool on the ground,
Where the trolley car bang never startles the air,
And the mosquito never is found.
Call it Vale of Avoca, or what ere you will,
So there's something to drink and to eat,
Let the drink be on ice, the eating don't count
In this haven away from the heat.

Success Foreordained.

There can be only one verdict from the country in the matter of President Roosevelt's choice for the vacant secretaryship. Elihu Root, already demonstrated as an able cabinet minister, will fill with strength the vacancy left by Mr. Hay's death. His success as secretary of state may be considered as foreordained.—Washington Star.

Father of Twenty-Four Children.

John Miller, who died at his home near Warsaw, in Benton county, Thursday, is believed to have been 105 years old. He had been married four times, was the father of twenty-four children, and is survived by his last widow and her three children.—Kansas City Journal.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The name of John Hay will figure prominently on many pages of history, for he did things worth while, and did them so well that they will long stand as models. Mrs. Hay has also done something worth while, and has done it so modestly and so well that it will long remain as a guide and precedent.

She set an example for funerals of public men that appeals to the good sense of all classes.

For a long time it has been felt that it is not a mark of respect to lie in state and be viewed by legions of curious people, for anyone who has ever attended these public exhibitions of the remains of distinguished men, know the character of the crowd, or more correctly, the mob, that gathers on these occasions.

The more morbidly inclined push their way hither and thither regardless of the comfort or convenience of others, and if not kept under control by military or police authorities they would take possession of the remains, and create scenes of confusion and tumult that would be really disgraceful.

The great majority of those who attend public exhibitions of this character are prompted solely by morbid curiosity, and not by feelings of respect for the dead. They simply want to look on the face of the dead, and would be just as anxious to look upon the face of a prize fighter as that of a great statesman or philanthropist.

* * *

Lying in state has come down to us from a long way back, at least as far back as the Persian and Grecian wars, when successful leaders were greatly adored.

When one of these fell in battle his body was laid on a raised platform, or pyre, surrounded by his trophies, his decorations and his horses. His soldiers, and their officers, would be marched past the exposed body and each swore to avenge his death.

It was also customary when a leader, or a conspirator, was assassinated, as was often the case, even in the palmy days of Rome and Greece, his remains were shown to the public in order to excite their sympathy and thus influence them to give their support to the party to which the victim belonged.

It was not unusual to exhibit the body of some hated conspirator, or arch villain, in the same manner. In such cases the people were permitted to stone and maltreat the body, which privilege they seemed to greatly enjoy.

Rulers and great leaders, no matter how unworthy and unpopular, were given great funerals. In fact the more unpopular the more pompous and pretentious the funerals. People would gather from far and from near just to witness the pomp and splendor, regardless of their feelings toward the departed.

Even in those remote times funeral splendors were not regarded as evidences of worth or popularity, but as sop to the vanity of the dead, and to his admirers.

Seeing that we have laid aside many ancient features and particularly the pomp of state, why not allow the lying in state feature to quietly drop out?

* * *

It appears to be the fact that the more ignorant and less civilized a nation is the greater its displays of pomp and splendor on state occasions, or when one of its great men dies.

And it is well known that poor people are more inclined to make special displays on funeral occasions than are their more thrifty and cultured neighbors.

Some of you will remember the time when funeral folly was rife in the Point district. It was when good Father Hickey was stationed at the Cathedral and he lost heavily in favor with the folks down in that section because he opposed their reckless displays.

So great was the rivalry among them, especially the Irish tenants, that families were completely bankrupt by a single funeral, and others were made poor. And yet these people seemed to be perfectly satisfied if only they had outdone the funeral display of some neighbor by as much as one carriage.

Men and women who died were not remembered the good they had done, nor for the manner in which they had reared their families, but by the number of carriages in their funeral procession, so that every long line of carriages was taken to indicate an Irish funeral.

Forty carriages was too much for Father Hickey to stand when the family of the departed hardly had bread and coffee to eat, much less meat and potatoes.

* * *

It was at this point that the good priest interfered, and he won out, but he had a lively fight on his hands for awhile.

However, John Hickey wasn't the man to let up in a fight as long as there was an unbroken bend in sight. He instructed the parish priests to designate the number of carriages necessary, and if friends of the family wanted to make a show they could do so at their own expense.

The crusade was quite effective in breaking up ostentatious funeral displays, not only in the Point district, but everywhere throughout the city.

The livery keepers suffered some from the reform. And yet some of these said they were not much out of pocket, as they were able to collect pay for the smaller turnouts, while it was not often they could get pay in full for the larger ones.

The reform was hard on the professional funeral-goer, and there were many of them. And thus there were always a lot of women and idle men who were ready to go for the sake of the ride, even if they didn't know the deceased.

It is different now, as a rule, there being an occasional exception. And it is becoming more the custom for those attending funerals out of respect for deceased friends to pay for their own carriage hire, particularly if the families are not in affluent circumstances.

* * *

There is still much room for improvement in our funeral customs. As they are now they are prolific causes of disease and death among those who attend, particularly in inclement weather.

The usual funeral service is too long, particularly when held in a private house, for the house is likely to be so crowded that those in the rooms are sweltered and suffocated, while those in the halls and exposed places are chilled before the unnecessarily long service is concluded.

An undertaker of many years experience said recently that almost every funeral in inclement weather leads to the sickness or death of one or more of those in attendance. This is due to their becoming overheated in the house, and then going out into the chilly air, and in particular to standing bareheaded at the grave.

He says that he now makes it a point to instruct the minister and pallbearers not to uncover after leaving the house, and he is careful to set the example by keeping his own hat on.

And yet there are some people who think it is disrespectful to the dead to remain covered at the grave, no matter how cold the winds may blow.

Battleships Turning Turtle.

However beautiful our ships may be built, however accurate our guns and efficient our machinery, however zealous our officers and crews, of what avail is it all if a chance shot can do such damage as to send the whole floating citadel to the bottom in a few minutes? If the bulkheads were built so that in case of accident the water had access across the ship the filling of a compartment would only sink her a few inches, and the guns would remain on a level platform, instead of at once becoming useless.—New York Globe.

Fills the Niche Completely.

Elihu Root is the finest of all men to succeed John Hay in the cabinet of Theodore Roosevelt. Considering what is lost and what is needed no other figure could fill the niche so completely. He is not Hay any more than he is Roosevelt; he is pre-eminently Root, and just as strong in his qualities and powers as they in theirs. —Philadelphia Press.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—Whether club women, in convention assembled, should sit comfortably in rocking chairs, as they do in their own parlors, or whether they should use only straight-backed chairs, is a question agitating New York women today. No one knows how the innovation came to pass, whether it was the carelessness of the attendants at the Hotel Endicott, where the Business Women's National league is holding forth, or by design, but the fact remains that the assembly room contains but few rocking chairs, and the women are as comfortable as can be while they discuss the momentous questions that come before them. And not one was found to object to the easy chairs. They rock themselves as gently as though singing a lullaby to a cooing baby, yet all the while paying rapt attention to the speakers. All sorts of things are being discussed at the meetings, but chief among them is the need of a club house in New York to accommodate just such sessions as theirs. It is promised there shall be such a building, but no one seems able to tell whence are to come the funds.

The Business Women's National league is a product of the great west, mainly of that part of the west where the woman is allowed to vote, and is otherwise considered almost man's equal. One might expect that, under the circumstances, politics would enter into the deliberations of the organization, thus causing friction, but such is not the case. The women do not take the suffrage too seriously, generally voting on national issues with their husbands or fathers, and on local elections for the men they know most about, or think they do. Therefore, the women of the league get along amicably, enjoying the siesta in the rocking chairs, and are careful they do not become so strenuous as to suffer from the heat.

Helped Try It on Colorado.

Incidentally, there is at least one man in New York who is watching the deliberations of the Business Women's National league with a good deal of interest because he helped in his own weak way to give some of them the right of suffrage. "I was in Colorado for my health," he explains, "and when the question of giving the ballot to women came to a vote I had become a voter. I had often wondered what would happen if the women were allowed to vote, and it seemed a good time to try the experiment, inasmuch as I did not expect to live in Colorado for long. So I became one of the most ardent advocates of the amendment giving the suffrage to the ladies. I also cast my vote for the proposition. My work may have had very little to do with the result, but the amendment was carried, and I have watched the result from this distance with great interest."

"Would you have voted as you did had you intended to remain in that state for the remainder of your days?"

"As Kipling says, that is another story," he replied.

Hear the Call of the Mountains.

New Yorkers of the wealthy class are deserting the seashore for the mountains these days, as shown by the figures compiled by the social register, just issued. The register recognizes 5,356 families as worthy of mention, of which 4,688 have gone to the mountains and 2,260 to the shore resorts. This is a decrease of 20 per cent in the number of visitors to the seaside. This change in sentiment has been going on slowly for the past five years. The same percentage among those who do not get into the social register is said to be hearing the call of the mountains and are forgetting their love for surf bathing. Strangely enough, the mountain resorts are now commanding higher prices for summer board. Prices seem ridiculously low at really good hotels on Long Island and in New Jersey and Connecticut, still the landlords continue to advertise the fact that they have accommodations for more guests.

Does It Pay to Be Great?

The financial loss to Elihu Root by going into the president's cabinet—his present income being estimated at $275,000 and the cabinet position paying $8,000 a year—has caused the money-seekers of New York to ask the question, "does it pay to be called great?" It is hard for the average New Yorker who is out for the change to realize there is anything worth having in this world except yellow-backed money and government bonds or other equally spendable things. Incidentally, Mr. James B. Dill, a lawyer with an income of probably $300,000 per year, has just been appointed a judge of the court of errors of New Jersey at a salary of $3,000. Few people have realized that Mr. Dill did not belong wholly to New York City. He has his offices here and gets most of his big retainers from New York corporations, but his home is in East Orange, N. J.

Subway Air Hobby of Lunatic.

Bernard McGuire, a mechanic, 34 years old, amused the boys on the ball grounds in Central Park, on the West Side, by singing Irish songs and making imaginary home runs. He partly undressed and was waving a red bandanna as the flag of freedom when Policeman Armstrong interfered.

"Better come with me," said Armstrong. "I know a fine place where you can preach."

Another Skyscraper is Planned.

Plans have been filed with the building superintendent for a new 23-story fireproof office building to be erected for the United States Express Realty Company, of which Frank H. Platt is president, at the northwest corner of Rector street and Trinity Place. It will have a frontage of 118.7 feet on Rector street, with two wings facing 132.9 feet on Greenwich street and 112 feet on Trinity Place, respectively. It is to have a facade of granite for the first five stories and brick trimmed with terra cotta above that. It will be equipped with ten passenger elevators. It is to cost $1,650,000.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES.

Dinner for H. M. Matthews.

H. M. Matthews, new general coal and coke agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, with headquarters at Baltimore, was honored by a dinner last evening at the Duquesne club, tendered him by the traffic managers of Pittsburgh industrial companies. Mr. Matthews was recently promoted to his new position from division freight agent and coal and coke agent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Pittsburgh.

As a further mark of their esteem for their guest the traffic managers presented him with a watch fob with an initial seal charm.

F. A. Ogden introduced the toastmaster, L. C. Bihler, who gave to each person present an opportunity to tell how much they thought of their former associate in Pittsburgh and the good fortune they wish him to enjoy in his new field. Those present as guests beside Mr. Matthews were I. R. Brockenbrough, general freight agent; W. L. Cronlish, coal and coke agent; D. G. Gray, division freight agent, and T. J. Walters, commercial freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Pittsburgh. The traffic managers taking part were J. M. Schieffle, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; J. H. McAdoo, Harbison-Walker Refractories Company; J. F. Magill, H. J. Heinz Company; A. G. Young, American Steel and Wire Company; J. B. Hill, Jr., American Sewer Pipe Company; J. V. Maher, Pressed Steel Car Company; J. F. Townsend, National Tube Company, C. S. Selstering, American Bridge Company; L. H. Constans, Pittsburgh Steel Company; F. A. Ogden, Jones & Laughlin Steel Company; L. C. Bihler, Carnegie Steel Company; R. H. Thompson, Oil Well Supply Company; W. N. Orr, National Fireproofing Company; M. Kelly, American Lumber and Manufacturing Company.

Hotels Taking Time by Forelock.

In order not to be caught napping when the busy spring season comes again, the hotel managers of Pittsburgh have determined upon a wiser method of procedure than in the past, when they were forced to turn away regular patrons because of overcrowded conditions. This has been one of the best phases yet found in the Hotel and Restaurant association of Pittsburgh, of which body the hotel managers are members. The association held a meeting at the Antler last evening, where the 18 members present enjoyed the hospitality of the Antler management at dinner. At the session matters of concern to the proprietors of Pittsburgh's leading hostelries and restaurants were discussed. The most important matter, however, was that of arranging in plenty of time for accommodating the large number of people who will come to Pittsburgh for the Knight Templar conclave next May. The matter of what reservations to make at each of the hotels for the Knights Templar and what reservations to keep for the regular custom, which is unusually heavy at that time of the year, was considered. Action will be taken at a later meeting. The association has passed through two years of successful work, its main objects being mutual protection against dishonest employes, bad check workers and undesirable patrons. Last night's discussion of the reservation subject showed another object of importance. It has not been decided whether the second annual dinner will be held at one of the Pittsburgh hotels or elsewhere. Some thought has been given to holding the meeting on a steamer.

Strike Helps Small Merchant.

"The teamsters' strike in Chicago has not done so badly for business," said Henry Simon, a Chicago hosiery manufacturer, who passed through Pittsburgh on the Pennsylvania limited last night. "This is particularly true of the smaller merchant. The three big department stores of Chicago were naturally hit by the strike, because when they sent out their wagons the drivers were accompanied by policemen. Such a wagon going to the buyers' homes—these buyers being in nine cases out of ten in sympathy, directly or indirectly, with the strikers—evoked criticism and the buying was done where the goods could be delivered by union workers. Thus the small merchant has really been benefited by the strike, and the small merchant is about nine-tenths of the business representation."

Hardware Men Enjoy Banquet.

Traveling representatives of the Bingley Hardware Company enjoyed a dinner as guests of the company at the Hotel Duquesne last night. John Bingley, president of the company, acted as toastmaster for the banquetters, and interesting talks were made by Mr. Bingley, James W. Wardrop, secretary and general manager of the Merchants and Manufacturers association; W. H. Cochrane, treasurer of the company; E. J. Lloyd, secretary of the company; John Reitz, Jr., manager of the Amberson stores; William J. Mercer, sales manager, and by a number of department heads and salesmen.

Will Tour Canada in an Auto.

A. M. Thompson, the Pittsburgh attorney, left for Chicago last night on the Pennsylvania limited. He will join his brother, Dr. W. M. Thompson of Chicago, in that city, and the two, with two friends, will start in an automobile trip to Detroit and thence will spin across Canada to Buffalo and other points.

\+ \+ \+

Personals of Prominent Men.

Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, went to New York last night on the Pennsylvania's New York flyer.

D. T. McCabe, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines, accompanied by his family, left for a visit to the Gettysburg battlefield last evening, occupying private car No. 1503.

Among the guests of the Hotel Henry are M. Shimada, K. Masuda and I. Kazubara, three Japanese gentlemen of New York.

JOHN HAY'S FIRST POEM

The death of John Hay has attracted general attention to his literary work. The author of "The Breadwinners," of "Castilian Days," of "Jim Bludso," "The Stirrup Cup" and other poems, is not so well-known as was the statesman, but will be as long remembered. The Gazette has secured the poem with which John Hay made his literary debut at the age of 20. It contains over 400 lines and is more interesting than poems usually are. Only a few copies are in existence, dating back to 1858, but The Sunday Gazette will tomorrow print this remarkable poem in full. Every one should read these lines, fanciful and humorous, by the late secretary of state, so do not fail to get

POLICE FORCE IS BACK IN POLITICS

Friction Arises Among Officials in Mayor Weaver's Department of Public Safety.

BUREAU CHIEF IS DISMISSED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, July 7.

There is trouble brewing in Mayor Weaver's cabinet. It is due to the fact that the police force is taking an active part in ward politics. The mayor has continually declared he would take no part in politics. This statement was supplemented by the official order of Director of Public Safety Potter directing the police to resign from political clubs and give no attention to politics.

At first the order was seriously taken, and 65 policemen, including Superintendent Taylor, resigned from the Twenty-fourth Ward Republican club. Assistant Director of Police South did not agree with his chief and ordered the superintendent and his men to renew their membership. They did so. Superintendent Taylor is president of the club and he presided at the session which re-elected his subordinates.

The incident has impressed the public with the idea that politics and not reform is the real objective of the Weaver-Wanamaker syndicate. This morning the Public Ledger, which has supported the mayor from the time he broke with the Republican organization, trenchantly criticises the administration. The Evening Bulletin, also an anti-organization paper, but very conservative, tonight takes the ground assumed by the Ledger.

Reaction has set in. The Republican organization is steadily gaining ground. The mayor has exhausted his ammunition, the leaders say, and they assert he cannot do any more damage. On high authority it is said the mayor and his advisers will not institute any more criminal prosecutions. It is said they would like to drop the cases against ex-Chief Hill, if such an arrangement were possible. If it is not, and Mr. Hill will probably retaliate, legally, before long.

George Pierie, chief of the bureau of city property, was dismissed today by Director Potter. "Neglect of duty" was the cause assigned in the letter asking for Mr. Pierie's resignation. The neglect, it was stated, was based on the action of Chief Pierie in approving certain bills which were incorrect. The position made vacant pays $3,900 a year.

NEW DEVICE FINDS FAVOR.

Edison's New "Commercial System," Conducted by Business Phonograph, Adopted at Mellor's.

On the market as a perfected device only since July 1, the new "Edison Commercial System," conducted with the Edison business phonograph, has already been adopted by one Pittsburgh concern, Mellor's music store.

This system is based upon the special form of phonograph devised and perfected by Mr. Edison. It takes the place of shorthand dictation, cylinders being used for recording and then used again by the stenographer for her dictation. In numberless ways the new system has been brought to the commercial perfection not attained by the older styles of such devices.

The machines were brought to Pittsburgh by C. L. Hibbard, general superintendent, and Nelson C. Durand, manager, of the commercial department of the National Phonograph Company. They were used exclusively for the recording of the proceedings of the Pennsylvania shorthand writers' convention, held this week.

"TED" JOHNSON SPRINTS.

Big Allegheny Detective Runs Down a Negro Who Is Working a Supposed Fraudulent Scheme.

Detectives Johnson and England of Allegheny last night arrested Harry Moos, a negro, aged 30. He is held as a suspicious person. Johnson observed Moos going from door to door on Lowrie street, Troy hill, and followed him. From several persons the detective learned Moos was collecting money ostensibly for the Union Baptist church, and was carrying an appeal for aid signed by Pastor J. W. Smith.

Moos started to run when he saw Johnson, and the big detective sprinted for two blocks before he ran the man down. In a book carried by Moos, Acting Superintendent Glenn found the names of many well-known persons in Allegheny who had contributed to the supposed scheme.

ASK HEAVY DAMAGES.

Sharpsburg Councils May Require Big Compensation from Railroad.

Sharpsburg council will demand $100,000 in addition to extensive improvements from the Pennsylvania railroad company as compensation for the damage to be incurred by the building of the proposed new railroad yards, car shops and roundhouse along the entire frontage of the borough on the Allegheny river.

If the borough should decide to dispose of the water works situated on the tract desired by the company, $200,000 additional will be demanded for the plant, which would make the total compensation $300,000. As the railroad company only offers $10,500, considerable discussion is anticipated at the regular monthly meeting of council next Monday evening when the ordinance embodying the demands will be presented.

EMPLOYES AT HORNE'S WILL ENJOY AN OUTING

The several hundred employes of the firm of Joseph Horne & Co., this city, will enjoy an outing at Rock Point this afternoon and evening. There will be two afternoon concerts at the park by the Great Eastern Italian band. Dancing is on the program from 7:30 to 10:45 p. m. The honor guests will be Durbin Horne, D. S. Horne, J. B. Shea, A. P. Burchfield and A. H. Burchfield.

Picnic Plan Fails.

Blanche Hofman, aged 16, was arrested at McKeesport yesterday afternoon, charged by W. J. Sharpless, a grocer, with false pretense. Sharpless says the girl secured goods, saying they were for a customer. It is alleged the girl intended giving a picnic, as the stuff obtained by her consisted of sweets, etc., such as are used at picnics. Three companions, Jessie Hilgard and Maggie and Annie O'Connell, were also arrested.

PITTSBURGH TO GET MAIL TUBES

This City Will Be Given Strong Indorsement in Committee's Report.

CHANCE FOR APPROPRIATION

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, July 7.

The report of the committee appointed under an act of congress for the investigation of the advisability of installing pneumatic tube mail service at Pittsburgh will be submitted to Postmaster General Cortelyou within 10 days. While no official announcement as to the contents of the report has been given out, there is excellent authority for the presumption that the Pittsburgh project will receive strong indorsement.

Cleveland and Cincinnati have also received the attention of the committee and are very apt to receive the recommendation of the department. The committee will visit other cities in the east, including Baltimore, within the next couple of weeks and go over the ground thoroughly with a view of reporting upon the feasibility of establishing the service in these towns.

While congress at the last session refused to make any additional appropriation for the pneumatic tube service, it is believed that at the coming session, with a strong recommendation from Postmaster General Cortelyou in favor of extending the service, favorable action will be taken by congress, and that other large cities, including Pittsburgh, not now enjoying the benefits of the service, will be placed on the list.

In the last congress the senate voted to include an appropriation for Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, in the postoffice bill, but this amendment was defeated by close vote in the conference committee. It is thought that, backed by the strong indorsement of the postoffice department, in the next session the senate will be able to secure legislation for the extension of the pneumatic service to cities of the Pittsburgh class.

JANITOR SHOUTS "THIEF."

Roll of Bills Snatched from Scully and Deputy Coroner Chases Man He Saw Counting Money.

Deputy Coroner George A. Mercer was standing in front of the morgue in Diamond street last night when he saw a man walking toward him counting a roll of bills. Just then Mercer heard the voice of Janitor McAuliffe of the Second ward school, who shouted that the man had snatched the roll from Thomas Scully at Diamond and Ross streets.

The man heard the janitor and started to sprint, with Mercer in pursuit. Both ran up Diamond street, doubled the triangle at the Newsboys' home and went up Fifth avenue, where the fugitive took refuge in a court off Chatham street, where he was captured by Policeman William Reynolds.

At the Central police station the man said he was Harry Gilmore. Scully lives in Allegheny. His roll contained $35, but no money was found on Gilmore. To insure Scully's appearance this morning he was locked up as a suspicious person, as was Gilmore.

GREEN GOODS MAN IS CAUGHT BY VICTIM

NEW YORK, July 7.—Postoffice Inspector Boyle today arrested Grove Collins, who was later held in $2,500 bail, on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Collins is alleged to have mailed to prospective victims a good $1 bill and an offer to send $500 of the same sort C. O. D. for $50. An Oklahoma man bit and reported to the New York authorities.

Since the introduction of the telephone at an astonishing number of sales have been made over the wire. People who come out unprepared to make the first payment often borrow the money or withdraw it from their banks, and then telephone back to the office on the property to see whether the lot they wanted is still unsold.

BROOKLINE

THE 15-MINUTE SUBURB

A SURPRISING percentage of the sales has been made in this way. Many folks come unprepared to pay hand-money. The reason of this is that they have no intention of buying when they start for the property, but are unable to resist the opportunity as soon as they see for themselves how accurately our great promise of metropolitan improvements is being carried out.

There is no doubt, too, that Cupid is in partnership with us. We have picked from the newspaper announcements of future nuptials the names of at least eleven couples that are among the hundreds of persons who have purchased home sites in Brookline.

What does that mean? It means that Brookline, more than any other property, is being bought up to live on. It means that a wonderful population will move to Brookline at a very early date, and that the old folks are advising their sons and daughters to begin their wedded life in Brookline, because Brookline will be conducive to their happiness and to their prosperity.

When living in Brookline hubby will be be able to leave for work a half-hour later in the morning. He can sit down to dinner a half-hour earlier in the evening. He saves an hour each day, or fifteen days each year, or two years of the average person's life.

These are facts given at random, more to contribute spice to our advertising than to load you down this hot weather with any weighty arguments. Nevertheless, these little facts amount to something when they're properly analyzed.

When you consider that Brookline is another Squirrel Hill, except that it is 20 minutes closer to the city than Squirrel Hill, you begin to see the feature of Brookline. When you stop to realize that three-quarters of a million dollars are being spent to give Brookline a complete list of civic and highway improvements, you are sure that the future you see will be an unusual one.

Crops of money will be raised at Brookline same as they were on Squirrel Hill. A new set of capitalists will spring up.

This would seem extremely optimistic to an ultra-conservative, but it is the same talk that came true of Squirrel Hill. The plain, hard-working lot buyers who bought pieces of Squirrel Hill were no different in flesh, blood, brain and foresight than the lot buyers who are purchasing pieces of Brookline. The only change in the aspect of the deals is that the Squirrel Hill buyers paid just as much money for their land as the Brookline buyers are paying, but the Squirrel Hill buyers didn't get the street improvements and were assessed pretty good taxes.

At Brookline you pay no taxes for two years, and when you commence paying taxes they will be small taxes. The original improvements will have been paid for before your tax-paying era begins. That is another little pointer for you to jot down where it will "stay put."

Of all the improvements perhaps none is referred to or praised more than our splendid system of electic lights. The streets at night are made as bright as day. You would enjoy an evening trip through the Tunnel to our property on our splendid speed-rail trolley. Take the new BROOKLINE cars anywhere on Smithfield street or at the Union, B. & O., or P. & L. E. depot. The run from these points is 20, 12 and 10 minutes respectively, and from the Postoffice fifteen minutes. Until second track is laid cars are occasionally held up on the switches. This inconvenience, however, will be done away with in a few weeks. When second track is laid orders to make the run from the Postoffice in 15 minutes will not be deviated from.

Remember that there are building restrictions on all the lots, and that all the streets are being paved or macadamized, many are being curbed with stone and are being supplied with granolithic-stone sidewalks. All are graded, sewered, piped with gas and city water, and are electric-lighted. The property is equipped with every convenience that progressive residents look for. Just as the swellest parts of the East End are.

Double-size lots, with building restrictions, are offered at $100 to $1,000, on terms of 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly.

RUSSIA'S NEW AMBASSADOR COMES TO THE CAPITAL

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Baron Rosen, who is to be the next ambassador of Russia to the United States, and who is also to be one of the czar's peace plenipotentiaries, came to Washington this morning, very quietly and informally. He was met at the station by members of the Russian embassy, and by them escorted to the new Willard hotel, where he took apartments.

The Baron called at the state department early in the morning and had an interview with the acting secretary, Mr. Peirce, regarding the presentation of his credentials and his formal presentation to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. He requested that as early a day as possible be fixed for this ceremony, and Mr. Peirce telegraphed the president and promised to communicate to Baron Rosen tomorrow the date on which he can be received by the president at Oyster Bay.

Baron Rosen's credentials will not be presented, nor will he enter upon his duties as ambassador until after the departure of Count Cassini from this country.

The present ambassador will leave Washington tomorrow and will sail from New York Tuesday. It is expected the presentation at Oyster Bay will take place very soon after Count Cassini sails. This shows the czar is desirous of having his new representative here assume his duties at as early a day as possible.

Baron Rosen called on the Russian ambassador whom he is so soon to displace. He will remain here until tomorrow night, when he will return to Manchester-by-the-Sea.

BROTHER DEFENDS JOHN F. WALLACE

Ohio Minister Says Government Ends Contracts, Why Should Not Employes?

IS A QUESTION OF HEALTH

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., July 7.—John F. Wallace, late chief engineer of the Panama canal, has a champion in his brother, the Rev. William Wallace, pastor of the Presbyterian congregation at Creston, Wayne county. The Rev. Mr. Wallace makes the following statement with reference to the criticisms by Secretary Taft of Engineer John F. Wallace's conduct in resigning:

The charge affects the honor of my family. There was nothing in the contract requiring members of the canal commission to serve until the completion of the canal, or for any stated time. The service of the men in the first commission ended within a year. Some no doubt desired to retain their positions. One was a high admiral of the navy, another a general of the army. The others were distinguished civilians. Before they had served a year the president demanded their resignations. This was the government's way of withdrawing from the contract. They did not charge the government with dishonorable conduct for taking this step to protect its own interests, as it judged.

Now, one of the most useful members of the new commission withdraws from the contract—acting in harmony with what he believes to be his own interests. He has the same right to withdraw as has the government. The rule certainly works both ways. It has always been the custom for officers of the government to withdraw from their positions whenever it suited their convenience, without liability to censure. In the midst of his term of office Elihu Root, popularly called the most efficient secretary of war since the days of Stanton, handed in his portfolio and retired to private life.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war there was a young man who occupied the position of assistant secretary of the navy. He was a very valuable servant of the administration. He obtained from his department an appropriation for target practice in gunnery, and the success of our sailors at Manila bay was attributed largely to his wise foresight. Yet to gratify his personal desires he withdrew from his position to accept one as a subaltern in the army, where he was not needed, at a time when the country most needed his services at Washington. But he went out from his office with the commendation and not the censure of the wise and just President McKinley. That man was Theodore Roosevelt.

In leaving a public position one thing or another may be given as a reason. A conventional reason is to accept a better position. Yet it may not be the underlying reason. At a family conference with our brother at my mother's home in Wooster about the first of May it was remarked by members of the family after he had left that my brother's appearance was that of a man whose health was breaking under the strain, and they expressed the hope that he would not continue long in his position. Although my brother has written me nothing regarding his resignation, the suspicion has been in my mind, which on reflection has deepened into a conviction, that the real reason for his leaving the canal work was failing or broken health. Not that his duties were too laborious. He has been well trained for his position. But that he felt himself unable to work indefinitely under the irritating and hampering conditions of a system which prevented him from prosecuting the work in that speedy and efficient manner which he believed the country expected, and which he would have been able to do under proper conditions.

John F. Wallace is one of the most generous, high-minded, patriotic, disinterested men I have ever known, and this day I delight to do him honor. Our government has an unprecedented stupendous popular duty, but I do not believe it has been given to it to cloud the reputation of a faithful servant and an honest man.

NEW ARMY POLICY IS ANNOUNCED

Promotions Hereafter Are to Be Made Solely on Record and Efficiency.

SOLICITING IS FORBIDDEN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 7.—An important order was issued tonight by President Roosevelt announcing the policy hereafter to be followed by the administration, in the making of appointments or promotions in the military branch of the government. The president orders that if any officer of the army or navy hereafter shall solicit influences, aside from the records of his service on file in the war or navy department, in order to obtain promotion or assignment, he shall be debarred thereby from the advancement or detail which he is seeking. The text of the order follows.

The congress of the United States by appropriate legislative enactments has made the matter of assignments, transfers and details in the army the subject of formal statutory regulation. Executive regulations in furtherance of these statutes have been adopted, the operation of which has been to place upon record in the war department full and detailed information in respect to the character, capacity, military services and general attainments of all officers composing the military establishment. The records so obtained fully set forth the relative merits of officers of all grades of rank in the several branches of the line and staff, and enable all vacancies which occur in the military service to be filled after a careful comparison of the records of those officers who are eligible under the law for particular assignments or details.

A similar legislative policy exists in respect to the navy, and the records of the navy department furnish evidence of the character, service and ability of all officers of the navy, founded upon the official reports of those officer whose duty it is to make them. These reports are sufficiently specific to enable the department to determine the particular duty which each officer is fitted to perform, without the interjection of requests, claims or influences from sources outside the navy.

It is therefore announced that in future appointments, details, transfers and assignments in the army and navy, the executive will be guided by the official records of the war and navy departments, respectively, to the exclusion of other sources of influence or information, but in case an officer has performed any special act of bravery or courage, or rendered specially efficient service, of which there is no record, or only a partial record in the war or navy department, the testimony of any person who was present at the time of the same may be submitted for consideration.

Should it be discovered that since the publication of this order an officer of the army or navy has sought recommendation or support from sources outside of those named above, this fact will debar him from obtaining the particular advancement, assignment or detail which he has by such means attempted to secure and the fact that he has sought such influence will be noted on his official record.

BOY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Life Guards Manion and McCready Rescue Harry Downs at Lock No. 1.

Policemen Manion and McCready, who are stationed at Lock No. 1 as lifeguards, yesterday saved Harry Downs, aged 11, of 817 Gibbon street, from drowning. The boy sank for the third time, when the officers dived into the water and found him lying on the river bottom. He was brought ashore and the guards worked on him for half an hour before the lad revived.

The boy was standing on the float with a number of other boys who were posing for a photographer. Young Downs was pushed off the float by a colored boy. No one saw the accident and he sank twice before the guards were aware of his danger. When the boy was brought ashore he was apparently lifeless. The guards worked with him and were about to give him up for dead, when the boy's heart commenced beating. He was then taken to the public safety building, where he was examined by the city physicians, who pronounced him out of danger.

"COPPER KING" HERE FOR A DAY

F. Augustus Heinze of Montana Has Meeting With Local Brokers and Capitalists.

MINING SPIRIT STRONG HERE

F. Augustus Heinze, better known as the "Montana Copper King," stopped over in Pittsburgh yesterday on his way from the west to Europe. Mr. Heinze is president of the United Copper Company, whose $50,000,000 capital stock was last week listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. He was induced to spend the day in Pittsburgh with Robert C. Hall, who is himself largely interested in mining enterprises. Mr. Hall prevailed upon Mr. Heinze to list his stock here with the idea of making this a central market for this and other similar securities.

Mr. Heinze was introduced on the stock exchange by Mr. Hall, and later in the day met a number of local financiers interested in mining properties in Montana. In the evening he was entertained at dinner at the Country club by the following gentlemen: Mr. R. Ward, R. C. Hall, W. A. McEldowney, John Bryden, William Lyons, A. R. Hunt, A. C. Dinkey, R. R. Brown, H. B. Beatty, John Sloan, John B. Jackson, D. L. Gillespie, Murry A. Verner, A. E. Masten and W. L. Mustin. He left last night over the Pennsylvania for New York, and will sail next week for Europe.

Mr. Heinze is one of the best posted men on copper mining in the country, and is particularly well acquainted with the great properties of Montana, in which millions of Pittsburgh capital are invested. For years past one of the most bitter legal and political battles ever fought has been waged between the Heinze and the Amalgamated Copper interests in the state of Montana, but Mr. Heinze stated yesterday that hostilities had practically ceased and that both interests were now devoting their energies to the development of their properties.

Of the Pittsburgh and Montana Copper Company, in which Ralph Baggaley and ex-Judge James H. Reed are largely interested, he said that the property was undoubtedly a valuable one, but as to the Baggaley process for treating the ore and which has been years in perfecting, he could not speak from personal knowledge. The Reins Copper Company, in which Col. James M. Guffey is largely interested, also has good prospects. The North Butte property recently acquired by Pittsburghers, is a very rich mine and well managed he said.

Before leaving for the east Mr. Heinze stated that he found the mining spirit in Pittsburgh more responsive than in the east, and he could not see why Pittsburgh should not take from Boston the position of the leading market for copper stocks in this country. Within the past few years Pittsburghers have made many millions in the great copper properties of Arizona and Montana, as well as the gold and silver mines of Nevada, and there is probably more real interest in mining in this city than in any other city in the east.

SOCIETY

THE engagement of Miss Katherine Elkins and Albert Curry is announced. It was to have been made public at a large luncheon just before the death of Miss Elkins' father, George W. Elkins, a few months ago. Instead it was told to a few friends of the two families and no formal announcement has ever been made. The wedding is to be a quiet event of the early winter.

Miss Elkins is the third daughter of the late George W. Elkins and Mrs. Elkins of North Highland avenue, and made her debut three winters ago. She is a sister of Mrs. John F. Knable of Ellsworth avenue, and of Miss Louise Elkins, and was educated at Miss Ely's school. Miss Katherine Elkins is fond of outdoor sports and is frequently seen on the tennis courts and the golf links at the Country club. She is also a fine horsewoman. Mr. Curry is a son of the late Henry M. Curry and Mrs. Curry of Homewood avenue, East End. He is a Cornell man, class of 1902. A part of the summer he will spend at his mother's new summer home at Magnolia beach, on the North Shore, Massachusetts bay, where Mrs. Curry and her daughter are now entertaining a large house party of young people, including Miss Elizabeth Heron and Miss Caroline Hays of this city.

Reception on the River.

Mrs. Francis J. Torrance and her daughter, Miss Jane Torrance, gave a reception on the steamer Francis J. Torrance yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret B. Watt of Philadelphia. Miss Watt is a former Pittsburgh girl and is visiting Miss Torrance. While the boat steamed up and down the Monongahela and the Ohio a buffet luncheon was served, followed by cards and dancing. Nearly 200 guests enjoyed the ride. The salons on the upper deck were filled with devotees of cards, while in the ballroom on the main deck the younger people gathered.

Hearts for School Girls.

Miss Thelma Banis of Philadelphia was the guest of honor at the hearts party which Mrs. John Gibson gave yesterday afternoon in her home in Center avenue, Shadyside. Miss Banis is visiting Miss Ruth Purdy of Negley avenue, and is a schoolmate of Miss Mary Gibson at Miss Marshall's school in the Quaker City. The card party was a very pretty affair, the house being decorated with garden flowers, while the guests, school girls at home for the summer, were daintily gowned in white. Miss Mary Gibson and Miss Banis received with Mrs. Gibson.

Christian Endeavor Picnic.

The Allegheny City branch of the County Christian Endeavor union will hold a basket picnic at the chapel, Riverview park, this afternoon and evening. A large attendance of the Endeavorers of Allegheny is anticipated. A ball game will be played between teams representing the city and the county unions.

Reading from "A Winter's Tale."

The lawn party and musicale which Mrs. George H. DeWitt gave last evening at her home in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, was exceptionally enjoyable. Dinner was served on the lawn and during the evening Miss Florette V. Herman, who was the guest of honor and a niece of Mrs. DeWitt, gave a reading from Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale."

Going to Spring Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Knable and their family expect to spend August at Spring Lake, N. J., and may possibly be accompanied by Mrs. Knable's mother, Mrs. George W. Elkins of North Highland avenue, East End.

School Children Receive Flowers.

Yesterday was the first "flower day" of the Allegheny summer playgrounds and schools and the attendance by actual count was 2,884 at the nine schools. While a large quantity of flowers had been donated, it was found after they had been apportioned that the Eighth ward was left out, notwithstanding 2,800 bunches had been distributed. These were arranged under the direction of Mrs. John Colberry and Mrs. John Oppley, assisted by Mrs. E. W. Locke, Mrs. M. Spiro, Mrs. Annie Lowe, Frederick Lowe, Mrs. O. M. Sanford, Mrs. Thomas P. Flesson and Miss Ella Lang.

There was a large quantity donated by the Bewicklev branch, under the direction of the vice chairman, Mrs. Wallis J. Tener, and those who contributed them and assisted in their arrangement were Mrs. Harry A. Davis, Mrs. Frances Dravo, Mrs. Ralph Binns, Mrs. Hutan, Mrs. F. E. Richardson, Mrs. William T. Lane, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Russell, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Henry Buhl, Mrs. W. W. Willock, Mrs. John Wall, Mrs. Nettleton, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Mrs. S. S. Cooper, Mrs. C. F. Holdship, Mrs. G. H. The Avalon and Ben Avon branch also made a generous contribution, the donors being Mesdames Pearson, Evans, Shaw, Flahavan, Shierer, Rose, Finsher, Hensel, Sanford, Callberry, McMichael, Renwick, Meller and Roxborough, and the collection was augmented by donations from M. A. Blaney, E. C. Gurtave and J. W. Ludwig.

The committee which arranges the flowers to be sent to the schools will meet every Friday morning in a room in the basement of the Allegheny Carnegie library, entrance on North Diamond street. Those who desire to contribute flowers for the children may send them there at 8:30 o'clock any Friday morning, when the gift will be acknowledged.

Considering Plans.

The managers of the Soho Public Bath are considering plans for the proposed building in Fifth avenue. At the meeting yesterday the board decided to put up a building which shall cost not less than $60,000, the maximum figure, however, being left open. The board has under consideration actual plans for the building which is a great step beyond what has been done heretofore. A building committee was partially appointed. It will consist of five members, three of whom were appointed yesterday. The two to be appointed by J. Boyd Duff during the coming week. A finance committee was also appointed consisting of John F. Larkin chairman; Miss Kate C. McKnight, Mrs. Enoch Rauh and W. I. Mustin.

The meeting of the board of managers followed a meeting early in the afternoon of the public baths committee of the Permanent Civic Committee of Women's clubs, at which reports of the opening of the Soho Settlement House were presented. The committee is enthusiastic over the commencement of this work in Soho. The library committee reported the installation of the Children's branch of the Carnegie library with an average daily attendance of 45 children.

Elect Probation Officer.

Miss Nannie Oppenheimer was elected yesterday to serve as the probation officer supported by the Civic Club of Allegheny county. Miss Oppenheimer is from Allegheny and is interested in the work. She has still to receive her appointment from the juvenile court as an officer of that court.

Doings at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—(Special.)—Four governors of states are due here Sunday to take part in the morning boardwalk parade. A rush invitation has been sent to Gov. Stokes of New Jersey to come down and extend official welcome to his fellow executives.

Gov. Dawson of West Virginia came here two weeks ago with his family, and is at the Traymore. Gov. Glenn of North Carolina arrived at the Shoreham today, and Gov. Jefferson Davis of Arkansas, and Gov. Jelks of Alabama are also hurrying shoreward. Ex-Gov. Jeffries of Louisiana is also here.

The two-score heroes who guard the bathers today served notice they would hereafter refuse to tend babies for frisky mothers who wish to take their daily dips unhampered by small progeny. The declaration followed an incident on the upper beach when one of the guards received a tongue-lashing because he deserted a howling youngster, left in his charge, to assist a struggling bather.

"No more nursing for us," declared the guardsmen. "We don't mind being accommodating, but we refuse to tend babies when the service interferes with duty."

Bath house barons report a demand for violet bathing suits following the craze of the feminine contingents for costumes of that shade. Efforts are being made to discover a fabric sure to stand the salt water without fading. Miss Nan Strong of Harrisburg was the first to appear in a violet bathing suit. She attracted thousands of eyes as she tripped across the strand.

Penrose Is Fishin.'

United States Senator Boise Penrose was at the head of a small party of "fishermen" who slipped into the city last night and departed on a yacht before daylight, ostensibly to lure a bunch of blue fish from the depths of the ocean, but probably to talk over the state of politics in Philadelphia. Identity of the remainder of the party has been kept secret, but it is known David Lane was along, and reports say David Martin and several organization lawyers joined the yacht farther up the coast.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 7.—(Special.)—Mr. Arthur E. Bestor has made for himself an enviable place on the Chautauqua platform by his series of able lectures on American diplomacy which he concluded this morning when he talked on the "United States as a World Power," in which he said:

"The United States has taken the foremost part in straightforward dealings and has been the leader in this change in diplomatic affairs. The burden of the United States was the American continent. In the early twenties, we entered into relation with South America, then became concerned with Panama and Nicaragua; then, in the future of Mexico, and during the last years of the nineteenth century we gained possessions in the Orient. We secured a military foothold in the Caribbean sea, a protectorate in Cuba and gained territory on the isthmus that assured control of the canal to the United States.

"Consider some of the changes in Europe. Great Britain occupies about the same place as in 1775. Spain has become eliminated as a world power. France, by reason of her many revolutions, has lost nearly all her colonial possessions. Italy, from being merely a geographical place, has become a power. But the greatest change in Europe has been in Germany, which from being a number of petty kingdoms, has become one of the great empires of the world. South America, except Brazil, was in the hands of Spain, but now is a number of countries.

"By legic of circumstances, the United States has been led unexpectedly to occupy a larger share of the world's interests than ever before, and has become more and more a world power. Four of the conditions of a world power are, first, certain geographical factors; second, certain commercial factors enter into it; third, racial elements which enter into the question; and lastly, certain moral factors enter into the making of a world power.

"Some of the problems the United States has to face are Cuba, the interoceanic canal, South America, the relation of the United States with China and Japan, and finally the great problem of the government of the colonies. United States is the last of the great nations to enter upon a policy of colonial expansion. From the beginning the United States has been a world power and must ever remain so."

Banquet for a Priest.

St. Thomas Usher society last evening gave a banquet in honor of the Rev. P. E. Maher, assistant pastor of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church, Braddock. Fifty were present. Father Maher retired last night as president of the society, which he helped to organize two years ago. New officers were elected as follows: Past president, the Rev. Robert McDonald, pastor of St. Thomas' parish; president, Charles Dowling; vice president, P. J. O'Connell; secretary, Thomas Killcoyne; treasurer, John Nugent; financial secretary, Paul Shutz. James L. Quinn was toastmaster at the banquet.

BOROUGH COUNCILS SEEK TO GAIN PEACE ON EARTH

Councils of boroughs in the Monongahela valley are considering ordinances which will tend to establish reforms for the benefit of night mill workers who require sleep during the day. Umbrella menders are to be forbidden to ring bells, hucksters and peddlers will be denied the right to blow horns, and circular distributors will be required to place handbills within houses instead of littering yards. It is said that ordinances establishing these laws will soon be presented in Braddock, Homestead, North Braddock and Wilmerding.

KISSES IN THE TUNNEL MAY CAUSE HIGH FARES

Experience of Two High School Graduates Also May Create a Demand for Chaperons on Knoxville Trolley Cars.

In the days of the candle or the kerosene lamp the young damsel could have traveled on a street car through the Mt. Washington tunnel without the necessity of a chaperon, but when the simple pulling of a plug turns the brilliancy of noonday into the blackness of midnight the chaperon is eminently proper. (It would be heresy to say that a chaperon is ever a necessity). This is why these observations are not far-fetched.

Yesterday afternoon a car was sliding up through the tunnel. Seated midway in the car were two likely looking youths accompanied by two exceedingly likely looking girls who had been graduated from high school two weeks ago—one from Pittsburgh and one from Allegheny. In their duck suits and white shoes and —ah, hem!—to match, they looked most becoming. They were a bit giddy. Nobody knows why the conductor pulled out the light plug for about 10 seconds, but the other passengers in the car know that they heard sounds that were suspicious. It was not caused by the brake slipping on the rails, either.

Then the light was turned on and the youngsters continued their trip out to the country. The funny part of it is that a trolley ride with a kiss was given by such a thrifty corporation as the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the small sum of 5 cents. It has been prophesied that 10 seconds of darkness in the tunnel hereafter will be taxed 10 cents.

MOORE GOT HIS QUORUM, BUT MORE DELAY COMES

Public Safety Committee Holds Up Temporarily Two Ordinances Favored by the Director.

Director Moore of the department of public safety finally drummed up a quorum of the public safety committee last night, but two measures which he particularly favors were hung up temporarily in special committees.

One of the ordinances related to the obstruction of streets and alleys by vehicles. To Councilman's Brand's question whether there was not already an ordinance to that effect in existence, the director said that measure prohibited street blockading and that it interfered with street car service, while the new ordinance prohibited vehicles from obstructing all highways. Brand said the department of public safety had already too much authority, and on his motion the ordinance was referred to a special committee of three, consisting of Brand and Councilman McKelvey and Edwards, appointed by Chairman Louis Frederick.

The other ordinance compels solicitors of book and magazine subscriptions and of contributions to benefits and funds and solicitors selling merchandise to take out licenses. To Brand's questions Moore said there was to be no charge for the licenses, which were intended to enable the police bureau to place the responsibility of solicitors. Brand said the ordinance related to traveling salesmen, to whom the measure might be made a source of annoyance and on his motion it was referred to a special committee. Chairman Frederick appointed Brand, Rapp and Shenkan on the committee.

The committee affirmatively recommended ordinances requiring pawnbrokers to install a telephone in a secret place, so that the police bureau may be reached quickly in an emergency; authorizing contracts for the Twenty-second ward engine house and for a boiler and engine and two lathes for the new machine shop on Carson street, and resolutions for the payment of bills for furniture, a heater, nozzles and wheels for the bureaus of health and fire.

Reception to a Missionary.

Last night a reception was given in the Wilmerding Presbyterian church in Margueite avenue in honor of the Rev. Boleind Deavers, who has returned from Assiut, Egypt, where he has been doing missionary work for three years. Mr. Deavers told of the growth of his mission. When he went there he had seven pupils and when he left he had 700. He will visit his parents in Wilmerding and later return to Egypt.

Less Height and Weight Necessary.

Applicants for admission to the United States marine corps no longer need to measure five feet, six inches, and weigh 132 pounds. Orders were received at the local recruiting office yesterday to the effect that five feet five and 120 pounds will be acceptable in the future. This of course applies in cases where other conditions are favorable. It has been found that many desirable applicants have been turned down when their only deficiency was in either weight or height.

Pastors Race With Barrows.

The Sunday schools of the East End and Wilkinsburg Christian churches held a joint picnic at Rock Point yesterday. The attendance was large and an interesting program of athletic sports and games was carried out, the feature of which was a wheelbarrow race between the Rev. W. R. Warren and L. D. N. Wells with Samuel Harden Church as referee.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh team took occasion tonight to denay emphatically the reports from Cincinnati that he intends to retire at the end of this season. He said: "There is not the slightest foundation for the alleged interviews with Tommy Leach and myself in which we are made to complain of interference by President Dreyfuss. If all the magnates were as fair and generous in their dealings with players as Mr. Dreyfuss there would not be much trouble in the baseball world. I have been associated with him for many years and never knew him to do a player the slightest injustice. I am sorry to say that some players have failed to shew their appreciation of his good treatment, but I object to being classed among these ingrates. As to the silly story of friction in the club I can only point to our standing in the race to refute the falsehoods circulated by enemies of the team."

Leach pronounced as absolutely false the assertion that Mr. Dreyfuss reprimanded him or did dressing room at the Polo grounds after a game with New York last May. Said he: "I never saw Mr. Dreyfuss in the dressing room at New York and he never reprimanded me there or any other place. I did not say that he did so. The story is a lie out of the whole field."

Rain spoiled the chances of the Cubs getting any revenge from the Pirates this afternoon. The frequent showers during the morning kept the grounds wet all day and this afternoon shortly before the time for the game to start the downpour was so heavy that the contest had to be abandoned. This is the first game on the West Side that has been prevented since the Brooklyn team was here and had to postpone a Saturday game.

Two games will be played tomorrow afternoon to make up for the postponement of today. These games remain of the present series between the two teams and there is no chance later in the season to work the game in, as this is the last trip here this year for the Pirates, except a Sunday game that is to be played here on September 3. The Cubs have several games to play in Pittsburgh, however.

The Cubs will leave here on Sunday night for their trip east and will stop off at Pittsburgh over Monday to play off one of the postponed games that they have with the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

"It is an unfortunate thing that the Pirates and Cubs have to fight it out among themselves so at this season, when they were so close to the Giants and in this way give the champions a chance to lengthen their lead," said one of the Pittsburgh players this afternoon. While the Cubs and Pirates have been battling for second place this week the New York team has been having a run of victories. Brooklyn but from the first of next week to the first of September they will have nothing but hard games to play."

EDGEWOOD FINALS FOR THE SECRETARY'S CUP

It Was Won by J. S. McCormick, Who Defeats H. C. Anderson, 4 and 3.

The finals at the Edgewood Golf club for the secretary's cup offered by W. H. Duff, II., were played yesterday between J. S. McCormick and H. C. Anderson. It was won by the former, 4 to 3. The qualifying round was played last Saturday and the early match-play rounds July 1. The finals for the president's cup will be played today.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Western Pennsylvania Golf association will be held at the office of Secretary W. W. Patterson, Frick building, Tuesday next at 12 o'clock. The committee will arrange the fall schedule of team matches and also the association's open and amateur championship tournaments.

Jack Dingwall, professional at the Edgeworth club, again lowered the record of the course yesterday by going around in 82. His figures were: 3-5-3-5-5-5-4-32. At that he was out of bounds going to the seventh hole and lost a stroke.

Jerome D. Travers, the young school boy golfer of the Nassau Country club, returned the lowest qualifying score Thursday at Apawamis invitation tournament in a field of 64. His 77 was the first round equaling P. S. Douglas' record for the course. It is two strokes under par and one over the professional record, held by Willie Anderson, "pro" at the club and open champion of the United States. His second round was 81.

Delay was again experienced yesterday afternoon in the golf tournament being held at the Brighton Country club. The semi-finals of the handicap match were to be played yesterday, but according to the rate at which the events are being carried out the tournament will extend into next week. Rain has been the principal impediment. The only event played yesterday was the third round of a match in the handicap for men. Dr. R. S. Nicholson won from M. Lowrie, 4 down and 3 to play. It was the original intention to play off the finals in the qualifying match and several postponed events yesterday afternoon, as well as the second round of the mixed foursome handicap match, but natural conditions prevented this. The tournament will be finished without any further delay the early part of next week. William McKnight will captain a team that will represent the Brighton club at New Castle this afternoon, when they will play a team picked from members of the New Castle Country club.

In the mixed doubles tennis tournament arranged by the New Castle Country club the following scores were made yesterday: Robert Cunningham and Miss Rachel Wallace defeated Richard Dana and Miss Florence Edgerton 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Charles Johnson and A. W. Trendwell defeated Miss Margaret Kirk and Paul B. Patterson 6-2, 10-8. The finals will be played off tomorrow.

BRADDOCK WINS GAME IN THE NINTH INNING

Braddock won a give-and-take game from the Pittsburgh Collegians yesterday at Edgar Thomson park, Braddock, 3 to 2. Don Doyle and Andy Brookmiller were the slab artists and Doyle had considerable the shade in the pitching. Each pitcher allowed four hits, but Brookmiller walked two men, while Collegians threw away the game in the first inning, the third, fourth and in the eighth and then again had it in the ninth.

Edmundson opened with a two-bagger to left. Kehar sacrificed and Hemsell scored. Pfeifer dropped Doyle's throw home on Herr's grounder and Edmundson scored. Hammond came home on Price's return of the ball from second in an attempt to win the game at that. The Collegians had a chance to tie in the third, but failed. Brookmiller banged one with in the eighth. He walked Doyle, Dan fanned Moffet, Price walked and Uptegraff was sent to first on balls. Pfeifer hit a line drive over the right field fence, which would have meant but a home run in the ninth, but a ground rule stopped him on second. Doyle and Price scored on the wallop, Brookmiller waited and was rewarded with a walk also. Koch struck out, and McCracken lifted a fly to Edmundson. Uptegraff, in running home, interfered with Schaefer, and Umpire Tunny Quinn called the side out.

It looked as though the Collegians would win in the ninth, as Moffet and Price both singled, but they were left on the circuit. Christ flied to Pfeifer in Braddock's ninth. Bailey hit toward the fence, and Uptegraff fell flat as he was about to catch it. Handing the ball to Doyle, who threw wild to Price at second to catch Bailey, Sweeny sent a short fly to Uptegraff, and to the astonishment of all, Uptegraff dropped it and Bailey ran home with the winning run. The score:

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 7.—(Special.)—The Ohio Works beat Homestead this afternoon 7 to 1. In the seventh Phyle made a fine three-bagger and Whitney hit the next ball pitched over the left field fence. This caused the retirement of Osborne. Dolan pitched a steady game. George Fisher, a Youngstown boy, will cover first base for Homestead tomorrow. The score:

STOCKS CONTINUE ACTIVE AND AGAIN CLOSE HIGHER

Reading and the Steel Issues Display the Greatest Strength—New Jap War Loan at a Premium—Local Securities Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market continued active yesterday, and while the trading was congested in a few specialties, which displayed great strength, the whole list participated in the advance and prices at the close averaged higher.

As has been the case for more than a week, Reading was a prominent leader and went through the daily performance of recording a new high price. Yesterday it touched 108⅝, and closed at 108, a net gain of 1 per cent. The heaviest buying was said to be for western houses and for the long account. The basis for the advance appears to be largely the success of the pull pool in the stock in making good its predictions. This pool began by naming par as the certain goal, and by degrees raised the limit until now as high as 150 is mentioned as a not improbable price, but of course there will be reactions before that figure is reached. Pennsylvania was strong and closed nearly a point higher, but Baltimore & Ohio closed ⅛ per cent lower.

Another very active feature was Union Pacific, which advanced to 131⅛, but in the late reaction it lost all its gain and closed at a loss of ⅛ per cent. Southern Pacific rose to 65⅝, but the final sale was below the opening price. These two roads made their reports for May, and both were favorable. Union Pacific reported an increase in gross earnings of $165,-100 in gross and an increase in net of $118,669. Southern Pacific reported an increase of $835,-418 in gross, and an increase of $364,-963 in net. During the day a rumor was circulated that the Union Pacific directors had already declared the semi-annual dividend at the increased rate of 2½ per cent, and that official announcement would be made later in the month. What was officially announced was that no action had yet been taken on the dividend. The remainder of the railroad list was moderately active, and while there was a rather sharp reaction during the closing hour, prices subsequently recovered and closed fairly steady, with gains predominating.

In the industrials United States Steel was active and strong, and retained its gains better than the railroads. The common closed ⅝ and the preferred 1 per cent higher for the day. Amalgamated Copper rallied to 83¾, but reacted to 82⅞ at the close. Stories were circulated and attributed to semi-official sources that the dividend to be declared this month would be 1 per cent regular and ½ per cent extra, placing the stock on a 6 per cent basis, but traders did not enthuse over these reports. Tennessee Coal & Iron was strong and closed 1¼ per cent higher. Sugar and Smelting also closed decisively higher.

The principal feature of the foreign markets was the scramble for some of the underwriting of the new Japanese loan. In the London market transactions were reported at a premium of 1¼ per cent, and 2 per cent premium was bid by bankers for the privilege of entering the underwriting. The prospectus of the loan is expected on Monday, when the public in London, Berlin and New York will be invited to subscribe. There was some intimation in London cables that the subscription price would be placed at 90, but yesterday's advices were that the loan would be offered at 87½, the same as the last previous loan.

The call loan market remained unchanged at 2½ to 3 per cent. Forecasts of today's bank statement were rendered difficult by the advent of the holiday and the offset of gold exports and currency shipments by receipts of new gold; but the banks have apparently gained less than $1,000,000 cash.

The liquidation of a small amount of National Fire Proofing preferred at the opening of the local stock market yesterday disclosed the fact that there was no support and apparently few buying orders in the market. Traders took advantage of the situation and later in the day something like a raid occurred, the price dropping to 32, the lowest of the year. There was a recovery to 32½ bid at the close and no more stock was offered for sale. There were no transactions in the common stock, which was quoted at 9½ bid. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was heavy, selling down to 62¾ and closing at 62½ bid, 62¾ asked. The common stock declined to 14¾. Crucible Steel preferred was active and firm, advancing to 63½ and closing at 63⅜ bid. It is reported that the net earnings of the company for June were slightly in excess of $200,000. United States Steel, common and preferred, closed higher, in sympathy with the advance in New York. Pittsburgh Brewing issues were strong, the common advancing to 27 and the preferred to 47¾. Independent Brewing bonds advanced 1 per cent and the preferred stock was also slightly higher. American Sewer Pipe was fractionally lower. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse stocks.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The decline in National Fire Proofing preferred to 32, the lowest of the year, was due partly to the announcement of the sale of $1,000,000 bonds by an underlying company, which will be guaranteed by the parent company, and partly to bearish selling pressure. The stock recovered to 32½ bid at the close, and there was no more offered for sale. The local market is in such condition that the forced liquidation of any stock on the list would be followed by a sharp decline. Brokers on the floor do not take any chances on the buying side, and the tone they adopt in discussing the market outlook is discouraging to the public. A little more optimism on the part of brokers might change the situation, but as the head of one house remarked yesterday: "It has cost me considerable money following a naturally optimistic temperament during the past six months, and I have decided to leave the initiative to insiders in the various companies, who should know the actual condition of their corporations. What we need in this market is honest and efficient management of corporations, and the best way to get that kind of management is for stockholders to take a greater interest in their properties."

An illustration of the prevailing apathy in the local market was furnished by Westinghouse Air Brake. It was officially announced from Philadelphia that the Pennsylvania railroad had given a contract to the Westinghouse Company for the equipment of all its freight cars with brake apparatus that are not already so equipped. It was said that the contract represented about $900,000. A story that the United States Steel Corporation had received a contract relatively as large would be seized by Wall street to put the Steel stocks up several points, but yesterday Westinghouse Air Brake was not even quoted on the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

Independent Brewing bonds were firm and 1 per cent higher at 106. Other Brewing securities were firm and higher.

Pittsburgh Coal stocks were again rather heavy, the common selling at 14⅝ and the preferred at 62¾. There were no transactions in the preferred in New York yesterday.

Safe Deposit and Trust sold at $400 a share. Aside from this transaction the bank and trust company list was neglected, the number of bids and offers being smaller than for a long time.

It was reported in local financial circles yesterday that a plan was being perfected for a consolidation of four of the leading Bisbee copper properties in which Pittsburgh is interested. It is said that the four companies to be consolidated are the Lake Superior & Pittsburgh, the Calumet & Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh & Duluth and the Junction, and that the last named will be designated as the holding company. Preliminary to this the Junction is now being converted from a development into a mining company, with $3,-000,000 capital divided into 300,000 shares of the par value of $10 a share. Holders of the development company stock are given three shares of new stock for one of old stock and are given the privilege of subscribing for two shares at $15 a share. Payments of the subscription to new stock fall due September 2 and 23 next. When the plan for consolidation was discussed some time ago it included the Calumet & Arizona, which is thus far the only dividend-payer in the group, but the plan now under consideration does not embrace the Calumet & Arizona.

The government crop report, due next Monday, will not be issued until Tuesday, owing to the time lost this week through the holiday and the closing of the department on account of the obsequies of Secretary Hay.

Moorhead's "Quarterly Record" for July is larger and more complete than ever, containing a full report of transactions and quotations on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, together with official information on local corporations.

The Pittsburgh Insurance Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 8 per cent, payable forthwith.

The Ben Franklin Insurance Company of Allegheny has declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent and an extra dividend of 2 per cent, payable on and after July 10.

The Potter Title and Trust Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable July 15, to stock of record July 10.

Directors of the Diamond Heat and Power Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent.

F. Augustus Heinze, president of the United Copper Company, the shares of which have recently been listed on the Pittsburgh exchange, stated yesterday that he expected the directors to declare a dividend on common stock within a few days.

The Union Trust Company, executor, has sold the membership of the late Samuel C. Grier, contingent upon the election of Alex. and M. Brooks, who with James H. and C. L. Childs will enter the brokerage business on September 1.

In the New York market yesterday the coiners had the advantage of the figures of anthracite output for June, showing a well-sustained volume. Pennsylvania and the Erie were both strong. These are among the stocks into which recent issues of bonds are convertible at exchange values considerably above those now ruling for the stocks. Among such convertible bond issues made since the first of the year may be mentioned the $100,000,000 by Pennsylvania, $32,000,-000 by Atchison and $10,000,000 each by Erie and Delaware & Hudson. As these recent issues are supposed to be still largely in the hands of first subscribers there is a motive evident for causing activity and strength in the stocks which will serve as an additional attraction for securing these convertible bonds.

The report of the week's currency movement did not indicate important changes in the cash item of the New York banks and not much attention was paid to it. An interesting development was the large increase in the demand for time loans. This was declared to come from stock commission houses and was supposed to be incident to the present activity in the stock market or to prospective operations there. The tone of time money was steadied but there was no important change in rates.

The United States Rubber Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on its preferred stock out of the net earnings of the company and its subsidiary companies for the three months ended June 30. The dividend is payable August 15. Net earnings for the quarter were $868,741, an increase of $160,241. No dividend was declared on the common stock.

The first month of operation of the law taxing the transfer of shares of stock has demonstrated that the annual revenues which New York state will derive from the operation of this statute will be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, a sum fully $2,000,000 in excess of the estimate made when the measure was proposed for enactment.

The fire loss of the United States and Canada for June, as compiled by the "Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin," shows a total of $11,789,900, which makes the aggregate for the half-year $93,111,300. The following table shows the losses by months for the first half of 1905 and a comparison with the losses for the same period in 1904 and 1904:

	1904.	1905.
February	16,650,800	20,051,000	25,591,000

The number of men from Pittsburgh who will attend the convention of the American Institute of Bank Clerks in Minneapolis this month is still increasing. Some who are not members of the chapter are arranging to take advantage of the special rates, and will accompany the delegation, and all bank men are being heartily welcomed and are assured a most pleasant trip, as they will be invited to participate in all the social features of the program. Among those who have definitely arranged to go are the following, a number of whom will be accompanied by their wives or friends: E. E. Kelsey, Keystone National; C. W. Arnold, Diamond National; F. M. Polliard, Real Estate Trust; Frank Jones, Union National; T. H. MacMichael, Mellon National; Alexander Murdoch, Pittsburgh Bank for Savings; J. F. W. Eversman, German National; T. A. STOCKS CONTINUE ACTIVE AND AGAIN CLOSE HIGHER

By JOHN G. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market continued active yesterday, and while the trading was congested in a few specialties, which displayed great strength, the whole list participated in the advance and prices at the close averaged higher.

As has been the case for more than a week, Reading was a prominent leader and went through the daily performance of recording a new high price. Yesterday it touched 108¾, and closed at 108, a net gain of 1 per cent. The heaviest buying was said to be for western houses and for the long account. The basis for the advance appears to be largely the success of the bull pool in the stock in making good its predictions. This pool began by naming par as the certain goal, and by degrees raised the limit until now as high as 150 is mentioned as a not improbable price, but of course there will be reactions before that figure is reached. Pennsylvania was strong and closed nearly a point higher, but Baltimore & Ohio closed ⅛ per cent lower.

Another very active feature was Union Pacific, which advanced to 131⅛, but in the late reaction it lost all its gain and closed at a loss of ⅛ per cent. Southern Pacific rose to 65⅝, but the final sale was below the opening price. These two roads made their reports for May, and both were favorable. Union Pacific reported an increase in gross earnings of $165,100 in gross and an increase in net of $118,669. Southern Pacific reported an increase of $835,413 in gross, and an increase of $364,969 in net. During the day a rumor was circulated that the Union Pacific directors had already declared the semi-annual dividend at the increased rate of 2½ per cent, and that official announcement would be made later in the month. What was officially announced was that no action had yet been taken on the dividend. The remainder of the railroad list was moderately active, and while there was a rather sharp reaction during the rising hour, prices subsequently recovered and closed fairly steady, with gains predominating.

In the industrials United States Steel was active and strong, and retained its gains better than the railroads. The common closed ⅝ and the preferred 1 per cent higher for the day. Amalgamated Copper rallied to 83¾ but reacted to 82⅞ at the close. Stories were circulated and attributed to semi-official sources that the dividend to be declared this month would be 1 per cent regular and ½ per cent extra, placing the stock on a 4 per cent basis, but traders did not endorse these reports. Tennessee Coal & Iron was strong and closed 1¼ per cent higher. Sugar and Smelting also closed fractionally higher.

The principal feature of the foreign markets was the scramble for some of the underwriting of the new Japanese loan. In the London market transactions were reported at a premium of 1¼ per cent, and 3 per cent premium was bid by bankers for the privilege of entering the underwriting. The prospectus of the loan is expected on Monday, when the public in London, Berlin and New York will be invited to subscribe. There was some intimation in London cables that the subscription price would be placed at 90, but yesterday's advices were that the loan would be offered at 87½, the same as the last previous loan.

The call loan market remained unchanged at 2½ to 3 per cent. Forecasts of today's bank statement were rendered difficult by the advent of the holiday and the offset of gold exports and currency shipments by receipts of new gold; but the banks have apparently gained less than $1,000,000 cash.

The liquidation of a small amount of National Fire Proofing preferred at the opening of the local stock market yesterday disclosed the fact that there was no support and apparently few buying orders in the market. Traders took advantage of the situation and later in the day something like a raid occurred, the price dropping to 32, the lowest of the year. There was a recovery to 32½ bid at the close and no more stock was offered for sale. There were no transactions in the common stock, which was quoted at 9½ bid. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was heavy, selling down to 62¾ and closing at 63⅛ bid, 62¾ asked. The common stock declined to 14¾. Crucible Steel preferred was active and firm, advancing to 63½ and closing at 63⅜ bid. It is reported that the net earnings of the company for June were slightly in excess of $200,000. United States Steel, common and preferred, closed higher, in sympathy with the advance in New York. Pittsburgh Brewing issues were strong, the common advancing to 27 and the preferred to 47¾. Independent Brewing bonds advanced 1 per cent and the preferred stock was also slightly higher. American Sewer Pipe was fractionally lower. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse stocks.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The decline in National Fire Proofing preferred to 32, the lowest of the year, was due partly to the announcement of the sale of $1,000,000 bonds by an underlying company, which will be guaranteed by the parent company, and partly to bearish selling pressure. The stock recovered to 32½ bid at the close, and there was no more offered for sale. The local market is in such condition that the forced liquidation of any stock on the list would be followed by a sharp decline. Brokers on the floor do not take any chances on the buying side, and the tone they adopt in discussing the market outlook is discouraging to the public. A little more optimism on the part of brokers might change the situation, but as the head of one house remarked yesterday: "It has cost me considerable money following a naturally optimistic temperament during the past six months, and I have decided to leave the initiative to insiders in the various companies, who should know the actual condition of their corporations. What we need in this market is honest and efficient management of corporations, and the best way to get that kind of management is for stockholders to take a greater interest in their properties."

An illustration of the prevailing apathy in the local market was furnished by Westinghouse Air Brake. It was officially announced from Philadelphia that the Pennsylvania railroad had given a contract to the Westinghouse Company for the equipment of all its freight cars with brake apparatus that are not already so equipped. It was said that the contract represented about $900,000. A story that the United States Steel Corporation had received a contract relatively as large would be seized by Wall street to put the Steel stocks up several points, but yesterday Westinghouse Air Brake was not even quoted on the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

Independent Brewing bonds were firm and 1 per cent higher at 106. Other Brewing securities were firm and higher.

Pittsburgh Coal stocks were again rather heavy, the common selling at 14¾ and the preferred at 62¾. There were no transactions in the preferred in New York yesterday.

Safe Deposit and Trust sold at $400 a share. Aside from this transaction the bank and trust company list was neglected, the number of bids and offers being smaller than for a long time.

It was reported in local financial circles yesterday that a plan was being perfected for a consolidation of four of the leading Bisbee copper properties in which Pittsburgh is interested. It is said that the four companies to be consolidated are the Lake Superior & Pittsburgh, the Calumet & Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh & Duluth and the Junction, and that the last named will be designated as the holding company. Preliminary to this the Junction is now being converted from a development into a mining company, with $2,000,000 capital divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $10 a share. Holders of the development company stock are given three shares of new stock for one of old stock and are given the privilege of subscribing for two shares at $10 a share. Payments of the subscription to new stock fall due September 1 and 25 next. When the plan for consolidation was discussed some time ago it included the Calumet & Arizona, which is thus far the only dividend-payer in the group, but the plan now under consideration does not embrace the Calumet & Arizona.

The government crop report, due next Monday, will not be issued until Tuesday, owing to the time lost this week through the holiday and the closing of the department on account of the obsequies of Secretary Hay.

Moorhead's "Quarterly Record" for July is larger and more complete than ever, containing a full report of transactions and quotations on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, together with official information on local corporations.

The Pittsburgh Insurance Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent, payable forthwith.

The Ben Franklin Insurance Company of Allegheny has declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent and an extra dividend of 2 per cent, payable on and after July 10.

The Potter Title and Trust Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable July 15, to stock of record July 10.

Directors of the Diamond Heat and Power Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent.

F. Augustus Heinze, president of the United Copper Company, the shares of which have recently been listed on the Pittsburgh exchange, stated yesterday that he expected the directors to declare a dividend on common stock within a few days.

The Union Trust Company, executor, has sold the membership of the late Samuel C. Grier, contingent upon the election of Alex. and M. Brooks, who with James B. and C. L. Childs will enter the brokerage business on September 1.

In the New York market yesterday the coalers had the advantage of the figures of anthracite output for June, showing a well-sustained volume. Pennsylvania and the Erie were both strong. These are among the stocks upon which recent issues of bonds are convertible at exchange values considerably above those now ruling for the stocks. Among such convertible bond issues made since the first of the year may be mentioned the $100,000,000 by Pennsylvania, $32,000,000 by Atchison and $10,000,000 each by Erie and Delaware & Hudson. As these recent issues are supposed to be still largely in the hands of first subscribers there is a motive evident for causing activity and strength in the stocks which will serve as an additional attraction for securing these convertible bonds.

The report of the week's currency movement did not indicate important changes in the cash item of the New York banks and not much attention was paid to it. An interesting development was the large increase in the demand for time loans. This was declared to come from stock commission houses and was supposed to be incident to the present activity in the stock market or to prospective operations there. The tone of time money was steadied but there was no important change in rates.

The United States Rubber Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on its preferred stock out of the net earnings of the company and its subsidiary companies for the three months ended June 30. The dividend is payable August 15. Net earnings for the quarter were $868,741, an increase of $109,241. No dividend was declared on the common stock.

The first month of operation of the law taxing the transfer of shares of stock has demonstrated that the annual receipts which New York state will derive from the operation of this statute will be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, a sum fully $2,000,000 in excess of the estimate made when the measure was proposed for enactment.

The fire loss of the United States and Canada for June, as compiled by the "Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin," shows a total of $11,789,800, which makes the aggregate for the half-year $80,111,900. The following table shows the losses by months for the first half of 1905 and a comparison with the losses for the same period in 1903 and 1904:

	1903.	1904.	1905.

The number of men from Pittsburgh who will attend the convention of the American Institute of Bank Clerks in Minneapolis this month is still increasing. Some who are not members of the chapter are arranging to take advantage of the special rates, and will accompany the delegation, and all bank men are being heartily welcomed and are assured a most pleasant trip, as they will be invited to participate in all the social features of the program. Among those who have definitely arranged to go are the following, a number of whom will be accompanied by their wives or friends: E. E. Kelsey, Keystone National; C. W. Arnold, Diamond National; F. M. Pollard, Real Estate Trust; E. S. Eggers, Union National; R. H. MacMichael, Mellon National; Alexander Murdoch, Pittsburgh Bank for Savings; J. F. W. Eversman, German National; T. A. McNary, First National of Allegheny; Stanley B. Miller, Bank of Pittsburgh; A. J. Markland, Mellon National; J. E. Linn, Lincoln National; J. H. Arthur, Peoples National; T. H. Bird, Pittsburgh Trust; E. B. Alexander, H. W. Sutton, First National of McKees Rocks; W. S. Wortman, Oakland Savings and Trust; F. G. Bruce, Beaver Trust of Beaver, Pa.; F. G. FIXING LOSS ON AVENUE THEATER

Architects Are Working Hard Preparing Claims for Insurance Men to Adjust.

PENN AVENUE PURCHASES

Architects George W. Hodgdon and Harry Rose are in the midst of one of the hardest tasks that has fallen to the lot of local appraisers for many years, namely, the work of estimating the damages to the Avenue theater building from its recent fire. For two weeks they have been working constantly on the job, and it will require at least 10 days more to complete their work and make their report to the board of insurance men, on which the insurance claims will be based. Usually in a case of this kind the appraisers have detailed sets of drawings of the building to aid them in their work. Owing to the fact that the Avenue has stood for nearly 40 years, all plans of the original building have been destroyed. There are no detailed plans either of the rebuilding of the Avenue two years ago or of the party walls erected between it and the Grand Opera house. This necessitates a very thorough examination of the walls, foundations and partitions, and this because of the great amount of debris that was in the building after the fire, has been a slow and rather dangerous performance. The walls of the Avenue and the Grand overlap, and there are various other technical difficulties to be met which makes the appraisers' task a slow one. The stage and its machinery and the seating quarters have all had to be measured and calculated with the utmost care to get any idea of the value of the parts that were destroyed. It was stated yesterday the foundation walls are found to be sound and that with a small amount of bracing with steel the building could be re-created on the present walls with safety. Whether the building inspector will allow this or not is a question that will depend largely on the report of the men now examining the building. It is not thought that a theater will be built on the foundations, owing to the law requiring side alleys, but Thomas N. Miller, on the other hand, said that nothing would be decided as to the nature of the improvement until the insurance is fully adjusted.

Record Price in Penn Avenue.

The John Devlin holdings at 1145 Penn avenue are sold under articles of agreement for $42,000, the buyer being A. C. Stein. The lot is 18x100 feet and faces on the north side of the avenue, adjoining 48x100 feet at the corner of Twelfth street, which is owned by C. W. Robb. On the Devlin lot there is a good two-story brick building which is now occupied as a saloon. The interesting thing about the transaction is the price paid, $1,750 a front foot, or $17.50 a square foot. This is much more than has been paid for property in this square before and, with other deals that are now pending for properties nearby, shows the increasing strength of these lots in the market.

It turns out that Maj. A. J. Pentecost is the buyer of the O'Reilly properties at 1222-1224 Penn avenue, in the next square to the Devlin holdings, which were sold recently by the Real Estate Trust Company. The price paid was $30,000. There are two brick store buildings on the lot, which are rented for a little over $1,300 a year, and will be kept for an investment.

Three First Ward Sales.

Through the Real Estate Savings & Trust Company three properties in the first ward of Allegheny have been sold. For Minnie L. McElhaney it sold to Charles C. Straub 630-632 West Lacock street at the corner of School street for $16,000. The property measures 46x84 feet, and is improved with a brick flat and two brick houses, the total rent being $1,650 a year. It will be remembered that Mr. Straub has figured quite extensively in the Allegheny market lately as the buyer of small properties in the lower wards.

The same brokers sold for Harry B. Ingham to A. J. Gould 628 West Lacock street, a frame house on 32x60 feet, for $8,100. They also sold for Mrs. Ione T. McAfee to a local investor 903 Park street, First ward, a frame house on 26x56 feet, for 18,000.

A report was in circulation yesterday to the effect that a deal was nearly concluded for the Stockton hotel property at the northeast corner of Sandusky street and Stockton avenue, Allegheny. The lot is 80x240 feet, extending back to Park way, and is improved with a three-story brick house of some 20 rooms in Stockton avenue, and some small dwellings in the rear. It is owned by Haworth & Dewhurst, and these men last night denied that any deal is pending for the property. The site would be an excellent one for a modern hotel, and several times it has been rumored that a syndicate was likely to take over the property for this purpose.

Grading a Fine Allotment.

The Brighton Park Land Company, which bought the John Walker tract in Allegheny two weeks ago for $144,000, has started grading the Davis avenue frontage, which is 1,000 feet long. There is a small bench next to the avenue for a distance of 400 feet, which will be removed and a uniform terrace formed along the whole plot next to Riverview park. As soon as Davis avenue is finished work will be started on the grading of the Termon avenue frontage. All this frontage will be divided into lots 50x150 feet, which will be put on the market about September 1, after the usual street improvements have been made. George T. McDonald, who handled the sale of the property, has been selected to have exclusive control of the allotment, which will be the largest that has been launched on the North Side since the West View properties.

The Lawyers' Realty Company has just paid its stockholders a 6 per cent dividend from its earnings the past six months, which is at the rate of 12 per cent a year—evidence that the company has found dealing in real estate on a small scale very profitable. The company was formed two years ago by a number of young attorneys and has declared two dividends previously. Its capital is $25,000.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, July 7.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say of the wool market: A decidedly stronger feeling is apparent since the opening of the London wool auctions on July 4, at a 5 to 10 per cent advance over the May closing prices. Dealers are confident of the immediate future of the market and consider that values will be maintained on their present basis for some time. There has been a good business in all wool except fleeces and pulled. Shearing in Montana has been further delayed by rains and the wools from that state are not expected for about two weeks. The foreign markets, both English and continental, are strong and rising with a shortage of the short supplies, which are causing considerable worry among manufacturers.

The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 29, 1904, according to the same authority, are 127,239,086 pounds, against 105,259,837 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 185,302,869 pounds, against 145,054,656 pounds for the same period last year.

LONDON, July 7.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 18,471 bales. Fine merinos and scoureds were in good request for the continent. Cross-breds realized full rates. Poor conditioned stock was in good demand at an advance of 7½ per cent. Americans bought greasy half-breds at 15 5d@15 9½d. The following are the sales:

New South Wales, 9,400 bales; scoured, 10d@2s 1½d; greasy, 6½d@1s 1½d. Queensland, 1,300 bales; scoured, 10½d@1s 1½d; greasy, 5d@1s 3½d. South Australia, 200 bales; greasy, 8d@1s 2d. Tasmania, 500 bales; greasy, 9d@1s 3d. New Zealand, 6,200 bales; scoured, 8½d@2s, greasy, 5d@1s 6½d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 1,400 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 9½d; greasy, 6½d @10d.

NEGLECT BRINGS EARLY PEARS INTO THE MARKET

Green Grapes Among the New Commodities — Prices Remain About at a Standstill.

Pears are in market. If the farmers who owned those pear orchards had used a little whale oil and bordeaux mixture earlier in the season and sprayed their trees those pears would still be on the trees. They are not sufficiently valuable looking to be worthy of a quotation yet, as they are practically nothing but "worm fails." Green grapes also appeared yesterday. They are big and fine looking and are selling at 5 and 6 cents a quart basket. They are only good for jelly. With these two additions it may be said the market list is about filled for the season of 1905.

There were but few changes to note yesterday. Several items in the market list shifted up or down about as many one way as another. Tomatoes have grown a trifle easier. Huckleberries have also improved considerably. Fruits generally are up a little, while canteloupes are a little cheaper. Watermelons are selling in the yards at from $125 to $200 a carload. There are plenty of first-class melons coming in now and they are finding a ready sale, as Pittsburgh is a great melon town.

Flour and sugar are still holding their own. The flour situation continues as uncertain as before and buyers will not greatly influenced by do not express an opinion as to how soon a change is coming or what it will bring.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 21 cars oats, 1 car straw. 6 cars corn, 2 cars feed. Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 1 car corn.

Receipts of hay and grain are very light. Arrivals are quickly picked up and the market is steadily advancing. This condition will maintain until the new crop begins to move, which will not be for at least a month yet.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE MARKS THE SITUATION

Warm Weather Has Accelerated Trade in the Textile Lines—Jobbing Business Is Brisk.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: Customary quiet commercial conditions at mid-summer were augmented by the interruption of a holiday, except that warm weather gave impetus to the distribution of seasonable wearing apparel, sporting goods and outing supplies. In wholesale and jobbing circles an unusually brisk duplicate order business testifies to the freedom from accumulated stocks on the shelves of interior dealers, while there is no abatement of confidence in the future. Structural steel and all forms of railway equipment are the prominent features of the iron industry, but quiet conditions prevail at coke ovens and pig iron furnaces. Sensational soaring of quotations for raw materials threatens the stability of the leading textile markets, although consumption is not yet perceptibly diminished by rapidly rising price itself likely to carry in reports of speculation. Notwithstanding the crop situation, prices rising higher than would be the case if manipulation were less vigorous and exports are adversely affected.

Several threatened labor controversies have been averted by agreement upon wage scales for another year and building operations are unusually brisk for the season. Inventories show a good volume of business for the first six months of the year, and still greater activity is expected in the last half. Railway earnings in June were 6.5 per cent larger than last year's but foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a loss of $4,187 in exports and a decrease of $488,788 in imports, as compared with 1904.

Uncertainty in the markets for cotton goods has resulted from the rise in the raw material, and it is almost impossible to negotiate for future delivery. Similar conditions prevail in the other leading textile industry, except that raw material has fluctuated less of late.

Increased activity is noted in the hide market, the demand emanating chiefly from one prominent interest, and confined mainly to native steers of later slating. Foreign hides are dull. Salesmen have returned from Western trips bringing liberal orders for spring shoes, and buyers in the Boston market are operating freely on initial contracts.

Failures this week in the United States are 160 against 249 last week, 195 the preceding week, and 236 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 21, against 16 last week, 29 the preceding week and 12 last year.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending July 6, are 1,050,644 bushels, against 756,641 bushels last week, 878,519 bushels this week last year, 2,320,410 in 1903, and 4,404,115 in 1902. Corn exports for the week are 932,225 bushels, against 1,266,264 bushels last week, 812,124 bushels a year ago, 1,035,084 bushels in 1903, and 185,051 bushels in 1902.

Harrison County Leads in New Work, but Wells Are All Small

Developments in the lower southwest fields continue dull and of little importance to the trade in general. There is a fair showing of new work starting in various localities, but it is nearly all located in the old districts that have long since passed from the interesting stage. The most of the work consists of filling in odd locations where there is room for an additional well. As a rule small pumpers follow and nearly always cause a depreciation in the production of the old wells in close proximity. No amount of new work could possibly increase the output of any of the these pools.

In the deep sand districts Harrison county has the lead in new work, but the wells are light pumpers and it would be no inducement to continue development work at this time if there was not a scarcity of producing territory. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has given its test on the Jemima Sandy farm a shot and the hole has filled up 700 feet with fluid from the Gordon. In the same district the same company gave its second test on the M. D. Queen farm the same kind of treatment and the hole filled up 750 feet with fluid. Both will make small pumpers. In the Wallace district the South Penn completed its No. 2 on the Eli Bee farm at a depth of 2,960 feet and it produced 18 barrels the first 20 hours. It will be shot. In the Fairview district, Marion county, the South Penn Company has put its No. 26 on the Haught-Walker farm to pumping from the fourth sand and it has a production of 75 barrels.

In the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn Company's No. 7 on the J. L. Price farm is holding up at 100 barrels a day and is the only deep sand well now producing 100 or more barrels a day. In the Mannington district all of the big wells have declined and the entire production of the 20-foot pool is now less than 400 barrels a day. In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Melrose Oil and Gas Company has drilled its No. 13 on the F. H. Ewel farm into the Maxon sand and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper. This is something of a feature, as all of the wells previously completed on this farm got their production in the Big Injun. In the same district the Carter Oil Company has drilled in its No. 3 on the Charles Eberhart farm and at 43 feet in the Big Injun got the pay and has a show for a 80-barrel producer.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, William C. Edwards & Co. have drilled their No. 32 on the Rathbone oil tract through the first Cow Run sand and have a show for a light pumper at a depth of 620 feet.

In the Wolf Creek district, on the Ohio side, in Washington county, the Tecumseh Oil and Gas Company has drilled in its No. 17 on the Ruth A. Palmer farm and has a show for a good producer in the shallow sand. In the Marietta district, same county, William Reader's No. 1 on the Cynthia Mendenhall farm has stumped in production. The gauge for the 24 hours, ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, was but 45 barrels, as against 140 barrels for the preceding 24 hours.

In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, Pennsylvania, the Murdock-Baldwin Oil Company has completed its No. 19 on the Daniel Garrison farm and has a show for a five-barrel pumper.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Denver dispatch: The consulting engineer of the Calumet mines, tributary to the Moffat road, at Crescent station, states that the shaft, which is now 130 feet deep, shows a solid pay shoot of copper glance that is three feet wide, in a crevice four to six feet in width between granite walls. The ore runs from 15 to 60 per cent copper and about 10 ounces silver per ton. The directors of the company, who are residents of Peoria, Ill., came out last week to inspect the property, with which they are greatly pleased. They found the ore-house filled with sacks of the rich mineral, but it is not deemed advisable to ship it out until after the great parallel vein containing chalcopyrite, which is now dipping into the Calumet shaft, shall have been fully exposed.

Chauncey E. Butler of Denver has taken a bond and lease on eight gold claims in the Weaver district in southern Yavanpai county, Arizona, from Andrew Peterson, for $22,500. Butler will organize a company to develop the property. Butler has purchased also, for $30,000, payable on the same terms, the Thunderbolt and Verne claims, in the same vicinity, the owners, J. T. Bishop and William D

START ALLEGHENY STATION IN WEEK

WEEK-END RATE WAR IS ON

The Pennsylvania Company will start the construction of its new $200,000 passenger station in Allegheny in about a week. Bids are now being taken and will close next Wednesday. The contract will be awarded a couple of days later. Before the contractor's work begins the company will erect a temporary station at the rear of the present one to care for the heavy passenger traffic from the suburban terminal.

The new station will occupy almost the entire frontage in the westerly side of Federal street from the elevated tracks to Stockton avenue. It will be three stories in height, of a form of Elizabethan architecture, the first floor being designed for a passenger station, and the upper floors for railroad offices. It will be built about flush with the sidewalk. At the rear of the Stockton avenue end will be built a smaller structure of similar architecture to be used by the Adams Express Company and by the employes about the terminal.

The construction of the new station will necessitate the removal of the present West Penn division offices of the Pennsylvania railroad from the old station building to the Penn avenue building in Pittsburgh, where the eastern and Pittsburgh division offices of the lines west and the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the lines east are located.

Merely a Misunderstanding.

Owing to a misunderstanding as to whether an ordinance had been passed by the city for widening Carson street, a slight clash came between the Wabash contractors who are building the foundations for the elevated freight line along Carson street and into the freight house site, and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad management. The Wabash people insisted that an ordinance had been passed; the Lake Erie said no. Pending an investigation the work was stopped. The Lake Erie drove "P. & L. E." stakes and nailed boards to mark its right of way. When the workmen appeared yesterday to continue excavation for the Wabash the holes were filled with earth by Lake Erie workmen as fast as they were dug. At a conference between Assistant Chief Engineer A. R. Raymer of the Lake Erie and Consulting Engineer H. T. Douglas of the Wabash yesterday afternoon the matter was straightened out and the Wabash will proceed with its construction.

Rate War Comes Here Today.

Having awaited until it was certain the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad would put into effect its announcement of a rate of $3 from Pittsburgh to Chautauqua and return for the week-end passenger business, the members of the Pittsburgh passenger committee have been called to attend a meeting of that committee today to take action upon the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie's move. According to the announcement made last Saturday by the passenger department of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, the company placed on sale yesterday for the first time the above week-end tickets. While the action was directed mainly at the Bessemer & Lake Erie, which has had a rate of $2.50 for week-end tickets from Pittsburgh to Conneaut Lake and return, it has also hit the Bessemer & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania and the Erie & Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania lines.

Wireless on Alton "Red Train."

W. S. Campbell, commercial agent of the Chicago & Alton in Pittsburgh, has received information that a wireless telegraph service will be installed on two daily trains of the Chicago & Alton between Chicago and St. Louis August 1, by the American De Forest Wireless Company of St. Louis. The Alton will place in service two new trains, the equipment for which is just being completed by the Pullman company. The trains will correspond to the present limited trains and will be styled "The Red Train." The observation cars are being equipped with a wireless receiving station, which occupies a small booth in the car. The contract for this service is the outcome of experiments conducted June 9, when messages were exchanged with trains from the stations at East St. Louis, Springfield and Chicago, and the test was pronounced a success.

Freight Committee Meets.

At a meeting of the Pittsburgh freight committee yesterday, Samuel L. Seymour, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, was elected chairman to succeed Harry M. Matthews, whose going to Baltimore as general coal and coke agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad rendered his withdrawal necessary. Dudley G. Gray, the new division freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio in Pittsburgh, was elected a member of the committee. Mr. Gray has assumed the duties of his office here. The election of Mr. Seymour comes while he is enjoying a jaunt in Europe. He is expected home in about three weeks.

Order for Steel Passenger Cars?

A report from New York was received in Pittsburgh yesterday that the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad had ordered 50 steel passenger cars of the Standard Steel Car Company. Upon inquiry at the headquarters of the Standard company in this city, an official said that if such an order had been given by the New Haven road it had not been received at the car company's offices to date.

Bring Electric Locomotive Here.

The electric locomotive that the Pennsylvania railroad is having constructed at the Altoona shops is nearing completion. It will be brought to the Westinghouse plant at East Pittsburgh in a few days to be equipped with the electrical appliances. This locomotive is to be used in the tunnel service between New York and Jersey City.

Railroad Notes.

Harry Young, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island-Frisco system, is in Chicago.

R. J. Hamm, chief accountant of the Baltimore & Ohio, is spending today in Washington and Baltimore.

The semi-annual watch examination of the Panhandle's Pittsburgh division will be conducted from July 16 to July 31.

U. G. Couffer, chief clerk in the office of Freight Traffic Manager D. T. McCabe of the Pennsylvania lines west, is enjoying a vacation sojourn with his family at Asbury Park.

The Great Northern and Spokane Northern railways have placed orders for 30,000 tons of steel rails with eastern mills, and the Santa Fe has placed an order for 15,000 tons with a mill in the central west.

A. Ellis, who has been freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines at Anderson, Ind., for many years, has been made freight and passenger solicitor in that thriving industrial city. J. E. Kirkpatrick has been promoted from freight and ticket agent at Elwood to the position made vacant by Mr. Ellis' retirement.

Officers of the Ursina & North Fork railroad were in Somerset a couple of days ago conferring with attorneys and it is reported their visit means that the Ursina & North Fork is to be sold to a Somerset and Westmoreland railroad syndicate. The road reaches coal properties. Among the officers in Somerset were President George J. Humbert of Connellsville and General Manager Wilfred Johnson and General Counsel Samuel Baurer of New York.

Will Establish Game Preserves.

HARRISBURG, July 7.—(Special.)—Game preserves will be established in Pennsylvania by the state game commission upon the forest lands controlled by the state forestry commissioner. The idea of the preserves is to provide a haven of refuge for game, upon which hunting will be allowed at no time. Sites for the preserves will be selected by a committee from the game commission, consisting of ex-State Treasurer Harris of Clearfield, W. Hayward Meyers of Williamsport and Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary.

Arcanumites Approve New Schedule.

Two hundred members of Versailles council No. 238, and McKeesport council No. 1,538, Royal Arcanum, have arrived at the conclusion that the new schedule of rates over which so much talk has occurred, is just and right, and the McKeesport members of the order have approved the action of the supreme council. J. A. Langfitt, past supreme regent, explained the new schedule and answered many questions propounded by those in attendance, at a meeting in common council chamber yesterday.

MANY COMPETE IN WORD HUNT

Winners in First Contest to Be Announced Tomorrow—Many Violated the Rules.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IS MADE

With the close of the polls in the first Word Hunt contest promptly at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, material evidence was at hand that readers of The Gazette were quick to realize the advantages of the contest in offering exercise in the time-honored three R's (reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic), in a manner which afforded both recreation and pleasure.

That this conclusion was reached in the minds of Gazette readers was clearly apparent by the great number of returns which were turned over to a large force of examiners immediately at the close of the polls, and the management of The Gazette finds pleasure in the fact that there was not one case of tardiness, and no returns were disqualified because of delay in arrival.

There was, however, one violation of an important rule governing the contest which caused many returns to be thrown out, and while this step is to be regretted, it is only in justice to those who applied the rules as they found them, that the disqualifications should be made. The rule which many competitors violated was the one providing that one letter could not be used more than four times in the four words. This restriction should be clearly in the mind of all competitors in future contests. It matters not if a contestant desires to use a letter four times in one word providing he does not use it again in the remaining three words; nor does it matter just where, and in what distribution, a letter can be used four times; but what must be religiously remembered is the fact that no one letter must appear more than four times in the full returns made by any one contestant.

It would be to the greatest interest of all competitors to read the rules carefully as they appear in The Gazette each Sunday as changes are liable to be made from time to time, and this right is reserved by the manager of the contest. The contest each week is a contest by itself, and is to be governed by the rules which appear in the Sunday paper in which the words must be sought.

One important change has been made in the rules which will govern the contest in tomorrow's paper, and all subsequent contests. The postoffice authorities are strict in eliminating from the mails all contests which have the slightest indication of chance. In the rules governing the contest last week it was stated that in the case of a tie the first solutions received would be voted the winner. In the race for time the postoffice authorities find a possibility or element of chance, and to avoid this, this rule has been changed to conform with the one which governed the successful proverb contest held by The Gazette last winter, in that those who may be tied will divide the prizes for which they are tied.

The names of the winners in the contest just closed will appear in tomorrow's Gazette, as will the rules governing the contest to be waged through the advertisements of that paper. As before, 13 prizes aggregating $50 will be awarded, and above all things—read the rules.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 6.9 feet and the river was stationary.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 7.—At 8 o'clock tonight the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 19.8 feet. A telegram today brought news of big rains that have swelled both the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. The government gauge at Market street, Pittsburgh, today registered 10 feet, which is sufficient for coal boats. It is thought but little coal will be brought, but the empty boats will have to return. The Resolute passed up today with empties. The Queen City passed Huntington at 8 o'clock today and arrived here on time and in readiness for the return trip to Pittsburgh at 5 p. m. Saturday. Freight shipments for the Cincinnati wharf were light today. Capt. Sam Bryan, who for some time was figuring on entering the Kentucky river trade, left today for Natchez, where he becomes captain of a local craft. Clear and cool.

ACCIDENT TO GREENLAND.

Pretty Sidewheeler Is Being Towed into Port Today.

The steamer Greenland, due in this city yesterday morning, broke the follower head on one of her engines early yesterday morning while near Rochester. She was unable to reach Pittsburgh and was towed in by the steamer Jewell. She had a large number of passengers aboard from Charleston, and also a lot of freight.

The Lorena arrived yesterday morning from Zanesville, O., with 1,500 cases of eggs, 20 head of live stock and a cabin full of passengers who were making the round trip. She will leave for Zanesville again this afternoon. The C. Woodward was the Morgantown boat in yesterday. The Columbia will be the boat in and out today.

The Virginia will get up from Cincinnati today with a big load of freight and a lot of passengers making the round trip. Every boat of the Cincinnati line is now running with all accommodations taken, and the season has been a remarkably prosperous one.

The license of Capt. T. P. Faddis of Rices Landing has been revoked by the steamboat inspectors and he has been ordered to lay his ferryboat at that point up until he complies with the laws. Capt. Faddis applied to the inspectors for an inspection May 24, at Brownsville. His boat was not ready then and he brought it to Pittsburgh. He was ordered to equip the ferry with a lifeboat, signal lanterns, life preservers, etc. He failed to do so, the inspectors say, and they refused to inspect the boat. Capt. Faddis, so it is stated, returned to Rices Landing and re-engaged in ferrying. Sunday, June 18, his boat, the Gazelle, collided with the Hazel M. Watson at Rices Landing and broke in her side. The owners of the Watson demanded a settlement and thus the matter was brought to the attention of the inspectors. These boats are rivals in the trade at that point.

FALLING OFF IN NUMBER OF TYPHOID FEVER CASES

There were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday nine cases of typhoid fever and six of scarlet fever. During the first seven days of July, 1904, the total number of cases of typhoid reported was 69 and for the seven days just ended the total was 51, a decrease of 18 cases. The total number of cases reported for July, 1904, was 356.
